Police Seeking Woman For Illegal Operation

Suspect Known Only By Name Of 'Linda'

San Rafael police today sought a woman called "Linda" who allegedly performed an unsuccessful abortion on a San Anselmo woman March 12.

The 27-year-old woman was in Marin General Hospital today recovering from corrective surgery. She went to her doctor Friday, suffering from internal bleeding.

Yesterday San Rafael police arrested Anthony D. Rader, 27, of 32 Front Street, Apt. 10, San Rafael. He is a bartender for Sam's Cafe in Tiburon. He was charged with soliciting an abortion and released on $1,650 bail.

Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham said the victim's husband paid Rader $400 for the abortion.

Rader met the woman at Fourth Street and Tamalpais Avenue at 11 a.m. March 12.

They went to Rader's apartment. Before entering, Rader told the woman to put on a blindfold. This she did herself, Cheetham said.

She was inside the apartment about 20 minutes while a woman attempted the abortion. Cheetham said this was done by insertion of tubes.

Under interrogation yesterday, Rader allegedly told police that he only knew the woman as "Linda." He met her in the Lighthouse Bar in Richmond some time ago, he said.

Cheetham said there are indications there may have been other abortions. He had a lead on one today and was trying to get more information. He said he expects the arrest of "Linda" soon.

Cheetham said that the victim is separated from her husband.

Police received the first lead on the case from Inspector Michael Melovich of the county sheriff's department, who received a call from the woman's doctor on Saturday, the day after she entered the hospital.

Crime Suspect Return Due Tomorrow

Companion May Be Flown Back By End Of Week

John Lee King will be returned from Hawaii to Marin tomorrow to face a charge of murder, and his alleged companion in crime, Robert L. Jones, may be returned by the end of the week.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said King was to be arraigned in Honolulu District Court today. He has agreed to waive extradition proceedings, so can be returned immediately after arraignment, the district attorney said.

"There's one night flight, but I'd prefer to have him brought in in daylight, so we'll wait until tomorrow," Garety added. He said arrangements will be worked out when Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales telephones this evening from Honolulu.

MAY GIVE UP

Jones, who disclaimed his identity on his arrest in Kailua-Kona Sunday and prepared to fight extradition, appears to have given up the fight and may be returned by the end of this week, Garety reported.

It may be necessary to send another officer from Marin to return Jones, however, the district attorney said.

Three officers—Bales; Donald E. Midyett, the district attorney's investigator, and Officer Ernest Brown of Sausalitao police—flew to Honolulu for the pair after King and Jones were arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Hawaii County officers.

SEPARATE RETURNS

However, Garety said he wanted two men to accompany each of the suspects on the return here. "Since they are to be returned separately, we will have to send another officer unless there is a Honolulu officer who will accompany one of them," he explained.

The two men are charged with the hammer-and-ice pick murder of Donald Glenn Corbett, 30-year-old Foremost Dairies executive, in his apartment at 203-A Valley Street, Sausalito.

Corbett's body, the skull fractured and the back pierced with 16 wounds, was found in the apartment on March 30. The murder is believed to have occurred the night of March 27.

The trail led to King and Jones when they used the dead man's credit cards to finance car rentals, airplane tickets and gambling in a flight that took them to Nevada, Southern

LAST RESPECTS PAID TO GEN. MacARTHUR

Diplomats, Generals, Common People File Past His Casket In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Diplomats and generals, soldiers who served him and the common people who admired him paid solemn and dignified last respects today to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

The stilled, yet majestic figure in simple sun tan uniform lay in a history-laden armory, a magnet for Americans conscious of their heritage.

Two hours before the doors of the Seventh Regiment Armory opened to the public at 10 a.m., lines formed behind police barriers.

MacArthur's widow, Jean; and son, Arthur, 26, were escorted to a private service there by Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson commander of the 1st Army, who represented the president. They stood with bowed heads beside MacArthur's five-star personal flag, close to the bier, as Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clergymen prayed.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, prayed for the general, who had worshipped as an Episcopalian:

'BRAVE SOLDIER'

"With grieving hearts we wave a fond farewell to a beloved friend, a brave soldier, a man of peace, a man of God."

Among the dignitaries who entered the armory were U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson; Sen. Jacob K. Javits, (R-N.Y.); Gen. Lucius D. Clay; New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller; former Secretary of the Army Kenneth W. Royall; New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, and former Postmaster James A. Farley.

Gen. Davidson placed a wreath on the casket of the 84-year-old warrior who died Sunday in Washington after three major operations.

Floral tributes included a huge rainbow of flowers from the 42nd Division, the "Rainbow Division" MacArthur helped organize and commanded in battle in World War I.

SIMPLE CASKET

Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard enlisted men were drilled so they would be perfect in today's funeral events. A man from each service was to stand exactly two paces from the casket's corner, frozen at attention.

The regimental armory, where the simple casket of cold rolled steel, standard Army issue, was placed during the night on a black-draped catafalque, dates to 1880.

In accordance with his custom, MacArthur wore none of his many medals, just the five stars of his rank.

As the body lay in repose, 19-gun salutes roared at many places — at West Point where he made the most brilliant scholastic record of all time, and later was superintendent; in New York, as well as other Army areas on the continent, and at selected points in the Pacific.

In Washington, leaders of Congress made arrangements for the body to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda tomorrow and Thursday. The general will be buried in the MacArthur Memorial building at Norfolk, Va., Saturday.

Steel Firms Indicted For Price Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight giants of the steel industry were indicted today on charges of conspiring in secret hotel room meetings to fix prices in the multibillion-dollar steel sheet business.

A federal grand jury in New York City charged that the firms conspired to eliminate competition in the 3.6-billion-industry, which accounts for a third of all finished steel mill production in the United States.

In doing so, the indictment charged, the corporations and two of their officials violated the Sherman Antitrust Act ban against restraint of trade.

The indictment grew out of an earlier grand jury's investigation of the April 1962 attempt by leading steel companies to put into effect a $6-a-ton price increase on all steel products. Sharply rebuked by the Kennedy administration, the firms rescinded the price increase.

Today's indictment named these defendants:

United States Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh and James P. Barton, its present assistant general manager for administrative service; Bethlehem Steel Co. of Bethlehem, Pa., and W. J. Stephens, former assistant vice president for sales.

National Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh; Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh; Great Lakes Steel Corp. of Detroit; Armco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio; Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland, and Wheeling Steel Corp. of Wheeling, W. Va.

Rafferty Orders Lid Put On News

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Dr. Max Rafferty has ordered all professional employees in his State Education Department to seek his approval before answering newsmen's questions on "major stories."

"On major stories or releases, we want to take a look at it," said Dr. Everett Calvert, No. 1 assistant to the superintendent of public instruction. Calvert is also empowered to clear statements to newsmen under the order.

BOOK 'FALSE'

Rafferty's order came after one of his top assistants told a reporter that a passage in Rafferty's new book was "absolutely false."

"It's awfully difficult to gag the press of California," Gov. Edmund G. Brown commented when told of Rafferty's new policy.

"I hope you're able to educate this great educator," he remarked to newsmen.

The governor recalled that early in his own first term, an "enthusiastic" press secretary issued a similar directive and later had to rescind it.

ON THE ROAD

Rafferty, driving to Los Angeles for this week's State Board of Education meeting, couldn't be reached for comment.

The policy drew criticism from a department worker—who didn't want his name used.

"The way I interpret this, is that if a reporter calls me and asks me how much are two plus two, I've got to get clearance from upstairs to say four," he said.

Woman Wins Right For Her Own Physician

A San Rafael wife was successful last night in forcing the Marin Hospital District board to accept the doctor of her choice to deliver her baby.

The hospital board, after a two and one-half hour closed session, granted permission for Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman of San Francisco to deliver the baby of Mrs. Joyce E. Conway of 30 La Brea Way at Marin General Hospital.

The board thus reversed its decision of a week earlier to deny Dr. Ascherman the privilege of delivering the baby at the hospital. A week before that, the board denied Ascherman general surgical privileges at the hospital.

Mrs. Conway subsequently threatened to deliver her own child if Ascherman was not allowed special obstetrical privileges at the hospital. She refused the services of staff obstetricians.

The board was advised that district hospitals have the responsibility of treating all emergency cases which come to the hospital, but a staff doctor would be liable for assault and battery charges if he treated Mrs. Conway against her will.

The board's action last night did not remove all the obstacles.

The board ruled that Ascherman will have to have a doctor with obstetrical privileges at the hospital present in the delivery room, and will have to find an anesthetist willing to assist in the delivery.

Also, at the insistence of the hospital's insurance carrier,

Engle's Condition Called Excellent

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle, fighting for his political life, was pronounced in "excellent physical condition" today by his Northern California campaign chairman.

Assemblyman Jerome Waldie, (D-Antioch) made the optimistic report on the basis of a visit to Engle in his Washington home last Thursday and talks with two doctors.

He said Engle may be able to come home to make some appearances but that it's not likely he'll campaign actively in his Democratic primary battle with State Controller Alan Cranston and former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Waldie, Assembly majority leader, told a news conference.

1. Dr. Roy Sexton, Engle's personal physician, again confirmed his earlier diagnosis that the Democratic senator did not have a brain tumor nor was there any malignancy.

2. Engle underwent surgrey last August suffering from degeneration of tissue in one portion of the brain. The tissue was removed. It's believed the condition was caused by a blow to the head sometime before, during a handball game.

2. The operation left Engle with a disability of his right arm and leg, and a speech difficulty. He is undergoing regular therapy to correct the conditions.

4. Dr. Stanley Berlinski, his speech therapist, reported that the outlook for regaining full speech capacity was "extremely good."

County Schools Aides Shifted As One Quits

One member of the top echelon of the Marin County superintendent of schools office resigned last night, and the jobs of three others were changed.

Edward R. Credell, assistant superintendent, announced his resignation to complete work for a doctor's degree. He said he has been offered scholarships or fellowships at four universities.

Stanley J. Friese, head of the instructional materials center in the superintendent's office, was advanced to replace Credell as ashsistant superintendent for educational services, with approval of the county board of education.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis announced a switch in jobs of the second assistant superintendent, Rudolph S. Kupfer, and Robert Stannard.

Kupfer will become supervisor of special education and principal of Marindale School for the Orthopedically Handicapped. Stannard, who has held that double job, will take over Kupfer's duties as assistant superintendent.

Kupfer said that as long as a year ago he had asked to be reassigned to a job involving him more with curriculum and teaching, instead of with the business and legal problems of the county schools office.

The switch will mean a cut in pay for Kupfer, but he said he was glad to take it to return to a field of primary interest.

The board also approved a

Minister Crushed In Rights Protest

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—A white minister protesting school segregation was crushed to death today when he tried to stop a bulldozer at a school construction project.

The Rev. Bruce Klunder, adviser at the Student Christian Union at Western Reserve University here, was part of a group of demonstrators protesting the construction of the elementary school on grounds it would continue de facto segregation.

Police said four demonstrators tried to stop the bulldozer, three of them throwing themselves in front of the machine. The bulldozer began backing up and ran over the minister.

Princess Giving Up Royal Duty For Love

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Strong-willed Princess Irene of the Netherlands refused today to join her family on an official visit to Mexico and announced she is giving up her royal duties for love of a Spanish nobleman.

Queen Juliana boarded the plane in tears after waiting half an hour at Amsterdam's Schiphold Airport for Irene to join her, Prince Bernhard and Princess Beatrix for the flight to Mexico via Houston, Texas.

Lower Deck On Gate Bridge Is Being Considered

SAN FRANCISCO—A three-man delegation from the Golden Gate Bridge District plans to confer with bridge engineers in the East later this month on the possibility of building a four-lane lower deck on the gate span.

Bridge Manager James Adam said yesterday he and directors Ben L. Lerer and Dan London will meet with bridge engineer O. H. Ammann of New York.

Ammann has proposed a $60,000 feasibility study on the proposed deck addition, which could become a project for submission to voters in the bridge and highway district next spring.

Although engineering studies have ruled out the possibility of rebuilding the storied span to accommodate rapid transit trains, this may not be the case with an extra deck for lighter passenger cars, Adam said.

Flu Is Continuing To Plague State

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Type A influenza continues to make its presence felt throughout wide areas of California, although the impact has not been has great as that of the 1959-60 season, the State Department of Public Health reported.

The peak in 1959-60 found 159 pneumonia-influenza deaths recorded in one week.

Highest so far this year was the week ending March 21, when there were 76 pneumonia-influenza deaths, up 123.2 per cent from the 34.1 such deaths expected. The week ending March 28 recorded 74 such deaths.

Tanker Rams Bridge, Killing Five

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI)—The super-tanker Esso Maraciabo rammed three pillars of the huge Lake Maracaibo bridge early today, killing at least five persons.

The 36,000-ton vessel collided with the pillars shortly after midnight, apparently due to a mechanical failure on board.

The crash brought down at least 200 yards of the span, the longest of its kind in the world, plunging four automobiles into the water. The dead were among those dumped from the bridge. There were no reported casualties among the tanker's crew.

Stassen Predicts Win In California

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Harold E. Stassen offered himself to California voters yesterday as the ideal stop-Goldwater and stop-Rockefeller candidate in the state's June primary election.

Stassen

The former Minnesota governor confidently told a new conference he would capture California's crucial 86 Republican convention votes in the presidential primary.

He said his victory would "open the door" to the GOP nomination for such men as Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Michigan Gov. George Romney. Only Stassen, Goldwater and Rockefeller have qualified for the June primary.

"If we win, the delegation pledged to me will consult with President Eisenhower and then will invite the four candidates not in the primary to meet with them."

He indicated he might release his delegates to another candidate before the first ballot at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July.

Actor Sellers' Attack 'Critical'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — English actor Peter Sellers was moved to an intensive care unit early today for treatment of a heart attack when complications set in and his condition was changed from "satisfactory" to "critical."

Sellers

It looks like a close one," a hospital spokesman said.

The complications were caused by shock and a disturbance in the rhythm in Sellers' heart beat.

The 36-year-old actor suffered the attack at his home yesterday. His wife, Swedish actress Britt Ekland, 21, accompanied Sellers to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital and remained at his bedside during the night.

U.S. Libraries Close

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—U.S. Information Agency libraries in Burma suspended operations today in compliance with a new law giving the Burmese government tighter control of foreign propaganda outlets. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the libraries in Rangoon and three other cities would reopen after registering under the new law.

TRUMAN'S MIND MADE UP

Rep. Martin Says Letter Helped In Firing MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. once made public a letter that ended the military career of a friend. The friend never mentioned the letter again, and neither did Martin, and the two remained close to the end.

The friend was General of the Army Douglas MacArthur who died Sunday. In a reminiscent interview, Martin reviewed the events that swirled about the historic letter.

"I had wanted some ammunition to answer some of the Democratic arguments about the war in Korea," said Martin, "and so I wrote a letter to MacArthur asking for his views."

Martin, a Republican congressman from Massachusetts who was House minority leader then, received a reply. MacArthur wrote: "There is no substitute for victory," and he disagreed with President Harry Truman's decision to limit the war to Korea.

"I had asked him for his views, and his reply did not say that his views were confidential, but I was not sure what to do," Martin said. "I walked around the block several times before I finally made up my mind. I decided that if he did not want his views known he would have said so."

Martin, in the midst of a House debate on the Korean War in April, 1961, released the letter.

Two days after the letter was made public, Truman dismissed MacArthur as the American commander in the Far East, and the long military career of the general came to an end.

"I never had any regrets about making that letter public," Martin said. "I always figured that Truman wanted to fire MacArthur anyway. He did it all too quickly . . . If it had not been the letter, Truman would have found some other excuse."

REP. JOSEPH W. MARTIN JR.
Wanted ammunition

"It is funny," the 79-year-old congressman continued. "MacArthur never mentioned that letter to me at all. And I never said a word about it, either. I always felt, let sleeping dogs lie."

Martin said he first met MacArthur when the general was Army chief of staff during the early 1930s. The late Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, then a Republican congressman brought them together.

"Mayor La Guardia had this apartment and he liked to make chowder, and one day, he said to me, 'Come on over and have some chowder with General MacArthur,'" Martin recalled.

"We saw each other from time to time. I would not say we were intimates. But we were friends. In 1952, I went to see him and suggested that he become a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

"'No,' he replied to me, 'I can't become a candidate. Bob Taft has earned the nomination.' I have always felt that MacArthur might have announced as a candidate if Taft had withdrawn . . .

Martin pointed to a framed document in his office, a copy of a speech by a Roman general, Lucius Clemilus Paulus, replying to his military critics in 168 B.C.

The speech said, in part: "If therefore, anyone thinks himself qualified to give advice respecting the war which I am conducting, which may prove advantageous to the public, let him not refuse his assistance to the state, but let him come with me to Macedonia.

"He shall be furnished with a ship, a horse, a tent; even his traveling charges shall be defrayed.

"But if he thinks this too much trouble and prefers the repose of a city life to the tools of war, let him not, on land, assume the office of a pilot."

Underneath was the inked inscription "Amen!" and the signature, "Douglas MacArthur."

"He sent this to me two years ago," Martin said. "It sort of touches the whole point of everything, doesn't it?"

FEWER RUSSIAN TROOPS IN CUBA

U.S. Officials Confirm Reports; Current Figure Placed At 4,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said today the Soviet Union has been pulling its troops out of Cuba in considerable numbers.

U.S. officials confirmed this, but as usual declined to estimate how many Soviet military men still are in Cuba.

At the time of the Cuban missile crisis in October 1962 it was estimated that 22,000 Soviet troops, many of them in organized combat units, were in Cuba. A number of them were technical experts in the long-range weapons and other war gear Moscow has poured into Cuba to make it the most powerful military nation in Latin America.

Last October U.S. officials indicated that a report that the Soviet troop presence had dropped to less than 7,600 was a pretty fair guess. Presumably the current figure is about 4,000.

The most recent formal statement by a U.S. government agency on the Soviet troop situation came in a nine-word observation all but buried in a State Department report to the House foreign affairs committee. It said: "Most Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island."

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Lyndon B. Johnson on international security affairs, said in a radio and television interview last Sunday that "there are very many fewer" Russian soldiers in Cuba now.

But he said it is a lot harder to count soldiers, "especially when they are in checked shirts," than it was to count missiles. He wouldn't want to pretend "that we know exactly how many" Soviet soldiers are still there.

Electrical License

Wild Car Ride With Johnson Is Described

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says President Lyndon B. Johnson — with a paper cup of beer "within easy sipping distance" — gunned his cream-colored Lincoln Continental up a long Texas hill and the driver of an oncoming car veered off the road.

One passenger groaned, "That's the closest John McCormack has come to the White House yet," the magazine said.

Newsweek magazine carried a similar account of Johnston's driving over Easter weekend, when he gave newsmen and newswomen an impromptu tour of his ranch.

Asked about newspaper reports that he drove up to 90 miles an hour, Johnson told a news conference last week he was unaware he had ever exceeded Texas' speed limit of 70.

Time says Johnson took three newswomen and a male reporter in his Lincoln, while other reporters and photographers followed in five other Johnson-owned vehicles.

Spotting a sow with a half dozen pigs, Time said, the president offered to pose for a photo with a pig if reporters could catch one—and "guffawed exhuberantly" as the sow charged the frightened photographers, as he knew it would.

Johnson finished his own cup of beer, Time said, refilled once from a newswoman's cup and sped off at 90 miles per hour for more.

Newsweek said that after the hill-passing incident, Johnson pulled up at a ranch house and asked "is the Secret Service still with us?" The magazine said the car with the security men in it had been left behind on the highway "caught behind cars Mr. Johnson had passed on the way."

Lawfords Are Barred For Politics, Acting

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Lawford and his wife, Pat, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, have been barred from buying an apartment in a fashionable 15-story cooperative here reportedly because he is an actor and she is a Democrat.

The apartment's owner, socialite Charles Amory, said last night he was ready to sell to the Lawfords when a hitch developed.

"I can't understand it," Amory was quoted in the New York Daily News. "The Lawfords are wonderful people. All arrangements have been completed and the papers signed.

"However, certain individuals in the building have refused to endorse the sale because Peter Lawford is an actor and Mrs. Lawford is a Democrat."

U.S. Rehearsed Earthquake In Secret Six Months Ago

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Now it can be told: The Alaskan earthquake of March 27 was simulated by the Federal Aviation Agency and military six months earlier in a practice exercise.

What the FAA and military learned from "Exercise Key Chain," a mock rehearsal of how to keep air operations going in the wake of a disastrous quake, contributed largely to recovery efforts from the one that actually happened.

"Key Chain" simulated a quake registering 8.0 on the Richter scale. The shock that struck Anchorage measured between 8.5 and 8.7.

The exercise assumed destruction of the airport control tower and forced evacuation of personnel from the agency's regional headquarters in Anchorage. Both occurred in the actual quake.

Rural Schools Seek Language Study Grants

The Marin County Board of Education last night approved requests for four National Defense Education Act grants, including one for foreign language teaching in rural schools.

The board also heard plans for a proposed school for Marin County jail prisoners, which county Administrator Alan Bruce has asked be deferred for this year.

The foreign language request was for the purchase of sets of language materials produced by Encyclopedia Brittanica films. Stanley J. Friese, head of the county instructional materials center, said the rural school districts will file NDEA applications of their own to tie into the county program.

The county schools office has a high speed tape copier which will make copies of the laguage tapes for the schools. The program is expected to cost $8,858. The grant from the federal government will cover half the cost.

In small school districts, which must start foreign language programs in 1965, there are no teachers trained in foreign languages, and these materials are a necessity, Friese said.

A second request was for money to create a science materials production center, at first at the Boyd Museum but later at the civic center. Friese said the emphasis would be on Marin County. He reported 28 local organizations were willing to donate time and materials.

One of the major donations, Friese added, would be use of thousands of color slides taken by members of four photography clubs in the county.

Part of the grant would be used for machines which would allow copying of the color slides for a slide library to be owned by the county, and for production of film strips.

The project, to cost $7,436, would also include funds to produce flat picture copies of many old photographs to be loaned to the schools office and for the production of natural science diaramas, using stuffed animals, to be made at the Boyd Museum.

A third project, to cost $8,117, would be for purchase of science films to bring the county's film library up to date. The fourth, for $7,436, would be used to purchase a film to train teachers to use "new mathematics" texts which have been adopted by the state.

On the jail school program, Friese said that many of the prisoners at the county jail stay there three months or longer, and that a recent poll showed many of these would appreciate schooling if it were offered.

He said programmed teaching material would be used, so it would not be necessary to have a teacher present much of the time.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis reported the item has been cut from the recommended budget to go to the county board of supervisors, but said he expects to fight for the program this year.

The Marin County Board of Education Also:

1. Accepted bids for instructional materials, to be later supplied to school districts in the county: American Seating, Inc., $46,438.93 for general instructional supplies; S. S. Stafford, Inc., $3,614.90 for duplicating supplies; paper supply contracts totaling $33,895 split between Crown-Zellerbach, Monahan Paper Co., Hillhouse, Inc., and Pacific School and Office Supply; Easterday Supply Co., $7,557.18 for janitorial paper supplies.

2. Revanmped the standing committee arrangement to make only six standing committees, designed to cover areas generally similar to functions of the county schools office. Named board member Adele J. Alpers chairman of the new legislation committee, Ben Roark Jr. head of the administrative services committee, James A. Carroll head of the personnel committee, Robert G. Randolph head of the educational services committee, Mrs. Edith Kanoff head of the special education committee, and Patrick Pollock head of the residential education committee.

3. Agreed to attend a meeting of the Sonoma County Board of Education in Petaluma Thursday.

4. Passed a resolution asking the State School Boards Assn. to keep board members informed on the voting records of state legislators.

5. Accepted the resignation of teacher Kathleen Williams, who is moving from the area.

6. Approved employment of Alan Brooks, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hermstad as teachers, and Vance Packard, Louis Lomax, Dr. J. Richard Suchman and Dr. William Hammerman as consultants for one-day programs.

7. Approved the 1964-65 academic agreement for Bayview School at San Quentin Prison.

8. Approved Marin participation in a statewide mathematics program to design a new course of study.

Major School Financing Bills Are Ruled Out

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A top legislator and a top educator agree that prospects are dim for any major school finance reforms to come out of the 1964 legislature.

Senate President Pro tem Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) and Max Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction, voiced their skepticism at a joint news conference yesterday, where they also agreed to a truce in their name-calling feud.

"The need right now is for some emergency measures to supply immediate funds for schools," the two men said in a joint statement.

"If there is any money available, it certainly should be pumped into the schools on an emergency basis now, this year. Further delay can only snowball the problem. Time is fast running out."

Burns, who two weeks ago said Rafferty had" joined the club" of school administrators, a group he called "incompetent and dishonest," added that he wasn't giving up hope that a "good, adequate reform bill" couldn't be passed, but "my guess is it isn't likely."

He was talking about a legislature that has produced at least half a dozen reform bills so far, more than any other session in recent history.

Not one, however, has reached the floor of either house.

Black Dogs May Have Killed Deer

Two large black dogs which have been seen running loose in Samuel P. Taylor State Park during the last month may be responsible for the death of several deer in the area, Neil Power, park supervisor, said today.

"We can't shoot them if we see them in the park," Power said, "but they can legally be shot by landowners in the area if they kill farm animals.

"We have had several reports from hikers that mangled deer have been found dead in the park and we suspect this pair of dogs may be the culprits."

One of the dogs looks like a Labrador retriever; the other has longer hair, Power said. One wears a collar, thus leading park officials to believe the dogs belong to someone in the vicinity.

A Frenchman named F. L. A. Pioche built San Francisco's first street railway.

Baseball Proposal On Rec Agenda

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission has scheduled a hearing at 8 p.m. tomorrow to determine whether to allow baseball games this summer at Sun Valley Park.

Hearing will be at Sun Valley School.

Nursing Unit Due Transfer

The Marin County bedside nursing program, cut back by the County Board of Supervisors, will be transferred from the health department to the medical department later this year, according to a tentative budget for the medical department discussed yesterday.

Both Dr. Michael Scholl, head of the medical department, and Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, in charge of the health department, have agreed.

In making the transfer, during budget discussions with Scholl, County Administrator Alan Bruce said he now envisions coordinating several county programs which include home calls for various types of welfare projects.

He said a team approach to home care should be used. Bruce claimed there is often duplication of services.

Scholl said he would need a public health nurse in his department to coordinate the programs. He was granted that increase in his budget, along with funds to increase the pediatric service at juvenile hall.

A distribution of funds for convalescent care was ordered to separate the money now going to Terra Linda Valley Hospital.

School said payments to this hospital had pulled the budget far out of line, because the care was actually "sub-acute hospital care" rather than nursing home service.

Psychiatric services were cut from the budget, effective Oct. 1, to be turned over to the new mental health department.

Commercial wine production began in California about 1830.

Chances For Joint Quentin Training Use Appears Dim

County school board member Patrick Pollock last night reported prospects dim for joint use, by prisoners and the public, of vocational training facilities to be built at San Quentin Prison.

He said union representatives at a recent meeting at the prison were not enthusiastic.

He said George Renworth, principal of Bayview schools at the prison, said at the meeting that he considered the best vocational education to be basic reading and basic mathematics.

Renworth, reported Pollock, argued that the state should spend less on vocational training shops at the prison and more on class rooms.

"It was a most disappointing meeting," added County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis.

Mitchell: Retailers Leaving

Present Council Drives Residents and Business From Mill Valley

Mill Valley's present City Council is driving residents and businesses from the community by failing to keep the tax rate at a liveable level, Holbrook T. Mitchell, candidate for Councilman, charged today.

"I know of at least four businesses and numerous families that are planning to leave for this reason," said Mitchell, a manager of commercial properties in San Francisco who has resided in Mill Valley for more than a decade.

"The fault lies with the current City Council which is spending too much time and money on planning studies and surveys that seem to result more in talk than action."

"Planning without action is meaningless," Mitchell said.

Mitchell's platform also includes these beliefs:

★ Reduction of costs of City government.

★ A need for a strong City Manager who will be guided—not hampered—by the City Council.

★ Maintenance of ALL "A" and "B" city streets on an equal basis since ALL "A" and "B" homeowners pay the same tax rate.

"The present City Council is providing the community with empty promises," Mitchell said. "We need promises fulfilled, and if elected I intend to see that promises made ARE fulfilled."

Eve Poarch Says Present Council Stoops To Threats

Eve Poarch, past president of the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, charged today that the incumbent City Council "stooped to threats" against City Manager Al Almcrants to get Parks Superintendent Joe Penders fired last year.

She said her club had made suggestions for improvements at the Mill Valley Municipal Golf Course and these "were twisted to make them sound like criticisms of Penders."

The council, Mrs. Poarch said, threatened to fire Almcrants if he didn't fire Penders.

"I don't know what their motive was," she said, "but I think they were trying to get at Almcrants."

Two Candidates Fail To Show At Recent Forum

The eight candidates competing for the three vacancies in the April 14 City Council election were invited by the Citizens for Good Government to attend a public meeting to answer questions from the voters as to their stands on various tax issues.

All but two accepted the invitation and attended the March 19 meeting held in the Council chambers at City Hall.

One of the no-shows was incumbent Councilman George D. Monardo, whose reasons for staying away seemed to indicate he has little interest in facing the public he is supposed to be serving.

Citizens Group Has Large Membership

Citizens for Good Government, the organization which is working to place three new men on the Mill Valley City Council, has more than 200 members from all walks of life and of all political convictions.

Wm. Feeney Unofficial Member Of Council

William P. Feeney, a member of Citizens for Good Government, has attended every Mill Valley City Council meeting since 1948 except when confined to his home by sickness.

Exercise Your Vote Select Three Non-Incumbents

Supporters of certain City Council candidates are advocating that the citizens of Mill Valley give up two-thirds of their franchise by casting a ballot for only one man.

There are three seats vacant.

There are eight men running.

The Citizens for Good Government urge you to exercise your FULL right—vote for THREE men of YOUR choice.

Meet Your Candidates

All eight candidates for the three seats on Mill Valley's City Council have been invited to state their qualifications and positions at a public meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Park School. The meeting is being sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin.

Give Proper Credit For Yacht Harbor

Contrary to popular belief most of the credit today for Mill Valley's yacht harbor goes to Charles Guichard, former Parks and Recreation commissioner and former city manager Al Almcrants. One of the candidates has deliberately left the impression that he has been the force behind Mill Valley's new yacht harbor. The record speaks for itself and this is far from the truth.

Bruce Gives Boost To Probation Budget

A tentative budget for the County Probation Office, including addition of two probation officers, a business manager and a whole new staff for a residential treatment center, was approved yesterday by County Administrator Alan Bruce for recommendation to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

One major disagreement in discussions between Bruce and Probation Officer Walter F. Busher and Juvenile Hall director David Fogle came over the salary to be paid the clinical director of the residential treatment center.

Fogle, pointing out that a man in a similar position at Sunny Hills is paid $15,000, said the proposed salary of $10,452 was absurd.

He said a conference at Los Angeles in May may offer the best opportunity to start recruiting, but with the salary proposed, "we'll be laughed right out of Los Angeles."

Bruce answered that a major push was expected this year to increase salaries in top level posts in the county generally. He said a salary above the first step, usually used for beginning employees, could be used.

Fogle also argued that the supervisor for the residential treatment center, to be opened next March or April, should be hired in October. He said other employees should be hired from one to three months early.

Bruce agreed to the early hiring, but pushed employment dates for many back one month on assumption construction will not be completed by the promised deadline of March 15, 1965.

The budgets for the residential treatment center and juvenile hall were combined for the next fiscal year, but separate records will be kept to justify the request for Short-Doyle Mental Health Act funds for the treatment center. Bruce said he expects the county to receive about $80,000 of such funds in the first year of operation.

Bruce turned down a request for funds to pay overtime for juvenile hall counselors when they are called back to the hall for staff meetings. Persons with professional status should not expect overtime, generally, and compensatory time off is possible, he contended.

Tiburon City Fund Report Is Criticized

The Marin County administrator's office today released a preliminary draft of a report on the financial aspects of the proposed incorporation of the City of Tiburon.

The report drew criticism from an incorporation proponent, Leo Souza, before county supervisors even had a chance to glance through the document.

Souza claimed one figure on expected city revenue, in a section drawn up by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, was in error. He said the $1,500 expected from business licenses should be closer to $10,000.

Mitchell replied that his estimates were conservative, but on that figure the amount would be entirely up to the city council, when it is elected.

Souza was granted a chance to meet with Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows, who compiled the information, to see if changes could be made before the final draft was approved.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman had warned when the report was authorized that accusations of bias could be expected from either side. Fusselman said the administrator's office should not be subject to cross-examination.

The report shows that if all services are done by the county in the first year, they will cost about $76,352, on the level of service proposed. If city employees were hired, the report states, the cost would be $153,620. City revenue the first year was estimated at $75,300.

Child Center Blasted As Baby Sitting

The child care center operated by Sausalito School District in Marin City was blasted by a county schools leader last night as nothing but a baby sitting activity.

Stanley J. Friese, head of the instructional materials center in the county schools office, told the county board of education that the center at Manzanita School is in such bad shape it should not remain there without major renovations.

Sausalito School District could levy a special over-ride tax—without asking the electorate—to repair it, said Friese, but district trustees do not wish to do so. They'd rather turn it over to the county schools office, he said.

Friese, who later in the county board meeting was elevated to assistant county superintendent, said the center is not taking advantage of available educational opportunities, and its materials—from blankets to toys—should be replaced.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said county takeover of the center had been deferred for the time being but may be included in the budget after discussions on finance between county supervisors and Sausalito School District trustees.

Sonoma Water Aid On Agenda

The North Marin Water District board will consider extending its service to southern Sonoma County at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the district office in Novato.

The North Marin District has the only domestic water supply available to the area south of Petaluma along Highway 101 where its Russian River aqueduct runs.

The board will also consider giving water service to Raphael Village, which is now served from Hamilton Air Force Base.

Other items to come before the board include awarding of contracts for rock for the corporation yard, installing valves in the San Marin pumping station, and reorganization of the board.

Burglary Suspect Arrested By Police

Richard William Coppom, 23, of 1103 Irwin Street, was arrested by San Rafael police on suspicion of burglary last night after he reportedly was hiding in the office of the Bermuda Palms at 737 Francisco Boulevard.

Irving B. Litchfield and Harold Farb told police they entered the office and found Coppom hiding behind the office door at about 10 p.m.

Coppom could not give a reasonable explanation for his presence in the office, Police Inspector Richard Camper said.

'Bias' Delays Naming Rights Group Aides

Appointment of seven more men to the Marin County Human Rights Commission was held up by the county board of supervisors today by arguments over how many city representatives should be named and whether the membership might be biased.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr raised the bias question. He said he wanted a review of the proposed and present members to learn if a "disproportionate number" belonged to any single interest group on either side.

He mentioned the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, but said the membership might be biased the other way instead.

The commission would be useless as a mediating body for disputes if one side or the other had too much influence, Behr asserted.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker then said he would like to see both San Rafael and Novato, as the county's two largest cities, represented on the group.

He said that the rest of the cities of the county had agreed to having one representative each from the central, southern and northern parts of the county. San Rafael and Novato both fall within the northern portion.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman said he would oppose having representatives from both Novato and San Rafael, unless San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield and Corte Madera could also each name a commissioner. Behr objected this would make the group too unwieldy.

Among names proposed for the commission today were Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks of Mill Valley, for Southern Marin, and Councilman Freeman D. Blake of Fairfax for the central area. They were selected at a March 25 meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the council of mayors had agreed to ask additional membership so both Novato and San Rafael could be represented.

Fusselman said he wanted something from the mayors in writing before he acted.

The other four supervisors, however, all voted to add a fourth city representative with Fusselman not voting.

Behr then won a one-week delay on the appointment of commissioners already selected: Sheeks, Blake, Rev. Samuel Banks, Eugene A. Ostaggi, Arthur Brown, James Smith, and Harold J. Truett.

California, Florida, Louisiana—and Hawaii.

New evidence linking the pair with the Corbett killing was found in their hotel rooms in Kailua-Kona, Bales informed Garety.

This included a steel cash box belonging to the slain man, a pair of his cufflinks, canceled checks bearing his signature, his identification and credit cards, receipts made out in his name, and a suitcase marked with the initials "D.G.C."

An extradition hearing for Jones has been scheduled for Friday, but Garety said this may be dropped if he gives up his fight against return here on the murder charge.

While return of the killer suspects from Hawaii was waited, another character in the cast came home last night.

Toulouse, a French poodle owned by Mim, Sausalito artist, that King and Jones took with them as far as Las Vegas, Nev., was flown back from Las Vegas after the artist's friends put up money to pay its board bill and pound fee in the Nevada city and its air freight to San Francisco.

Mim and Toulouse were reunited at San Francisco International Airport. The artist and friends later celebrated the reunion at the No Name Bar in Sausalito.

Waldie said Dr. Sexton was concluding an exhaustive physical examination marking the six month anniversary of Engle's surgery.

"Thus far all the tests have been most satisfactory, according to Dr. Sexton," he said.

"The lab tests indicate the senator to be in excellent physical condition."

Waldie said one further test remains—an arteriorgram. It's to be finished this week.

Tiburon Council Candidate Files

Charles T. Cohen, 42-year-old owner of Ted's Taxi and Ted's Marin Airport Service, filed yesterday as a candidate for Tiburon City Council.

He was the 11th person formally seeking one of five posts to be filled in the June 2 primary election, which also has Tiburon incorporation on the ballot.

Filing deadline is Thursday.

Cohen, who came to Tiburon six years ago from Pennslyvania, resides at 488 Irving Court, is married and has six children.

the Conways and their unborn child must furnish and indemnity agreement releasing the hospital from any liability.

The unborn child's release would be in the form of a court order. William W. Turner, hospital administrator, said today, he had never heard of this procedure being used before.

A sharp exchange between attorneys took place before the board went into an executive session one-half hour after the meeting was called to order.

Harold F. Riede, attorney for the hospital district, threatening to resign before he would advise the board in a public meeting, said, "I have an obligation to the public too. I am not going to present my case in public."

Harry Gonick, representing Mrs. Conway and Ascherman, questioned whether the Ralph M. Brown Act permitted the board to go into a closed meeting to discuss possible litigation. He added, "I can guess what your advice will be."

Riede shot back, "You can stand outside and guess all night."

The board then went into the executive session with Richard V. Bettini, attorney for the insurance carrier, and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The board selected John C. McDonough, acting dean of the Stanford University Law School, as hearing officer on the Ascherman's appeal of denial of surgical privileges at the hospital.

change in the departmental organization to create the post of director of instruction, to pay $15,000 a year. It will include the functions of chief of the county instructional materials center, now run by Friese, but also include supervision of other teaching programs in the county schools office, such as Marindale, the Bayview schools at San Quentin Prison, and Loma Alta School at the juvenile hall.

Credell, a native of Los Angeles, has worked for the county school office three years. He started in the field of education as a teacher in Fresno and was a principal in the Inglewood Unified School District before coming to Marin.

Kupfer came to Marin five years ago from a post in charge of educational research in the Kern County schools office. He has taught on all grade levels and had acted as administrative assistant to the county superintendent in Napa County.

Friese has been at the Marin County office nine years, coming to Marin from posts of supervisor in the Alameda County schools office and as curriculum coordinator in the Sierra-Plumas Unified School District.

Stannard came to Marin from University of California a year ago. Before returning to the university for a master's degree, he had served as school principal and demonstration teacher for San Francisco State College.

Students Vote To Streamline Constitution

A new student constitution, to streamline operations by cutting the size of the student council, was overwhelmingly approved by Terra Linda High School students yesterday, Dean of Girls Margaret Rattray announced today.

She reported 374 of the approximately 1,650 students voted 312 "yes" to 62 "no" on the question.

The revision also provides for election of students once a year, rather than each semester as previously. Officers on the student council now will have specific duties spelled out in the constitution.

Representatives on the council now will come from members of each class, instead of from social studies groups as previously.

"We find today that most schools have elections annually and this provides for better involvement of more people," she said.

OBITUARIES

Henry T. Clark, 58, Dies At Hub

Henry Thomas Clark, 58, retired postal service worker, collapsed and died of a heart attack at his home at 286 Redwood Road, San Anselmo, last night, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported today.

Clark was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 10:40 p.m. after San Anselmo police and firemen tried in vain to revive him after he collapsed in his living room while eating a hamburger.

Bradley said that earlier in the evening Clark had fallen in his carport, broken his glasses and cut his head, but an autopsy today showed he suffered only a superficial bruise from this accident.

Police were called at 10:10 p.m. by a friend who was visiting him, Esther Malone of San Francisco. She at first thought he might have had a stroke or choked on the sandwich.

Clark had retired from the postal service at Rincon Annex in San Francisco, after 22 years service. He leaves a stepson, Donald R. Robinson, serving with the Navy at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Clark had lived in Marin five and one-half years.

The body was taken to Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

LAURA AHERN

Laura Alice Ahern of 550 D Street, San Rafael, a 60-year-resident of Marin County, died at her home yesterday. She was 92 years old.

She was the widow of James B. Ahern.

Mrs. Ahern was born at La Grange, Stanislaus County. Her parents came to California from Ireland in 1849. She lived in the same house on D Street for 46 years.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Kirby of Sausalito and Mrs. Harold Haley of San Rafael; a son, James Ahern of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Rosella Bates of Corte Madera; nine grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Prison Inmate Stabbing Held Retaliation

San Quentin Prison inmate Leroy Scruggs, 32, was stabbed repeatedly in the chest last night in what prison officials said might be retaliation for the stabbing Saturday night of inmate Joseph Arnold Steinaker, 26.

Scruggs, in the prison since Oct. 23, 1962, on a term of two to 20 years for arson in San Francisco, was in serious condition today in the prison hospital, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

Held in solitary confinement in the stabbing were Steinaker, who was released from the prison hospital yesterday, and Angel Roy Nino, 26. Preliminary investigation indicated they stabbed Scruggs, said Frady.

Scruggs was stabbed about 6 p.m. after his evening meal while waiting to be readmitted to his cell in the second tier of the north cell block, said Frady.

After the stabbing, several prison-made stilleto type weapons were thrown from nearby cells by inmates, but none could be identified as the weapon used on Scruggs, said Frady.

"They didn't want to be hung up with weapons at that time," he said.

Steinaker was received from Los Angeles County Oct. 22, 1959, on a first degree robbery conviction. Nino, also a Los Angeles County first degree robber, was admitted July 22, 1959.

Both denied attacking Scruggs.

Officer Tells What To Do In Nuclear Accident

"Panic among the people is the greatest fear in a nuclear accident," Lt. Col. Normand H. Traverso, director of the joint office of information at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday told approximately 40 disaster workers and newsmen at a meeting at the base.

The seminar on how to deal with accidents, involving a nuclear devise was attended by law inforcement officers, firemen and newsmen from the Bay Area.

"Keep upwind and at least 1,500 feet from the scene of any accident in which a nuclear devise is involved," Traverso advised. He said law enforcement officers should keep everyone except disaster crews that distance or more from the scene of such an accident.

In all the history of handling nuclear explosions, none has exploded unless the triggering device was set by hand, Traverso claimed. The nuclear device will burn after a plane crash or other such accident, but it will not explode he said.

There is, however, danger of an explosion from the high explosive material used as a wrapping around the fissionable core, he warned.

He advised the evacuation of the nearby area if such an accident occured in a heavily populated area.

"There is a chance of such accidents from transporting nuclear devices on railroads, in trucks and ships, as well as planes," he continued.

"The code 'Broken Arrow' tells all law enforcement officers that there is a nuclear device involved in the accident and to keep people at least 1,500 feet from it," Traverso said.

The plutonium used in the nuclear warhead can be dangerous if it is inhaled, as a dust, gets on the skin or into the bloodstream through a break in the skin, he added. Anyone working around such a accident should be tested by the disaster crews and decontaminated before he leaves the scene, he urged.

"There is no more danger in working around a fire in which a nuclear device is burning than ony other fire," Traverso told the firemen.

"If people know the facts, there will be no cause for the public to panic," he declared.

FBI's Most Wanted List Down By One

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A heavily disguised gunman who was wounded and captured in North Sacramento Sunday has been identified as one of the FBI's most wanted fugitives.

Howard Jay Barnard, 39, was identified from fingerprints after he refused to identify himself or answer questions.

He had been added to the FBI's most wanted list a year ago when he escaped from a moving train en route from Seattle to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

When he was captured Sunday, he was wearing actor's makeup and a glue-like substance to hide his fingerprints. His hair was dyed gold and cotton stuffed in his nose and mouth to change his features.

North Sacramento police, alerted by a hidden alarm, pursued him as he left the El Dorado Hotel after robbing it of about $1,500. Barnard was shot in the knee when he was cornered.

Refusing to identify himself, he told police to "find out the hard way."

Police Chief Percy Gassaway said that's just what they did—"identified him the hard way, through fingerprints."

Mill Valley To Hire Architect To Design Recreation Area

The Mill Valley City Council looked several "gift horses" in the mouth last night in the interest of a coordinated architectural program for the community's recreation center at Project 17.

Following the unanimous recommendation of the recreation commission, the council voted 4 to 1 to hire Sausalito architect Roy Starbird to design the new center and supervise remodeling of the building at the 17-acre recreation center.

Councilman William M. Secor cast the dissenting vote, saying the action would "undermine the morale" of citizens who had voluntarily worked on the project.

The lengthy discussion centered around the architect's fee, and the possibility there would be no cost to the city from volunteer architects.

"We're going to be blowing $3,300 out the window," Secor declared.

The majority of the council, however, agreed that a coordinator was needed, after Jerome C. Hauke, recreation commission member, asked whether volunteers would be able to devote all of their time to the project.

The council set $3,300 as the maximum for Starbird.

The council introduced the following ordinances:

1. To establish a 25-mile-per-hour speed limit on Miller Avenue from Reed Street to the southern city limits.

2. To rezone the area near the northwest corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Street to single-family and commercial districts.

3. To amend the code regarding duties and responsibilities of the parks and recreation commission.

The Council also:

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Set for April 21 public hearing on adoption of the development plan for Project 17.
2. Accepted conveyance to the city of the Marin Municipal Water District yard adjacent to the city sewer plant.
3. Adopted the final map for Scott Valley subdivision unit 3 as recommended by the city engineer.
4. Adopted a statement of council policies which had been collected and rewritten by Councilman Michael Wornum.
5. Appointed the engineering firm of Bala and Strandgaard to study the municipal golf course drainage plan at a cost not to exceed $1,500.
6. Adopted resolutions removing the Scott 2 and Scott 3 subdivision units and Edna Maguire School playground annexations from the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District.
7. Adopted a resolution accepting the Bradford Way sewer line.
8. Received Al Hemmerling's resignation from the planning commission, citing business reasons.
9. Accepted the city engineer's drawings for proposed improvements on Miller Avenue, a project which will cost approximately $104,000. The city's share of the cost will be $38,000 and the county will pay the balance, according to City Engineer Stanley M. Bala.

The United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., was established in 1802 with an entering class that year of 10 cadets.

A TRIBUTE TO THE COLLEGE OF MARIN

Among students transferring to the University of California from the 70 junior colleges within the state, those entering from the College of Marin have the best grades.

Locally owned and operated, tuition-free and supported by our property taxes, the College of Marin is educating 1800 full time students, mostly from within the county. Another 1000 take part time work, and 8000 adults are enrolled in 130 courses, 40% of which are identical with the daytime program.

The college's 1962 master plan calls for maximum expansion of the Kentfield campus to 2500 regular students by 1970, with an additional campus south of Novato to handle 3500 by 1980.

With education an economic necessity today, the College of Marin is doing a first rate job.

Gas Station Action Delayed In Belvedere

The Belvedere City Council staged a delaying action on Frederick G. Zelinsky's service station use permit last night, putting the matter over until next month.

Evan T. Pugh of 39 Cove Road, one of 30 protesting residents, said, "I wish Mr. Zelinsky were here tonight to hear what his neighbors think about his gas station."

SECOND PETITION

Cove and Lagoon road residents were again represented by Richard Adams, who had already filed a petition with the council opposing the service station. He presented a second petition last night bearing 60 signatures.

The council asked City Mgr. Britton Rey to ask the California Division of Highways for a traffic count at the intersection of Tiburon Highway, Cove Road, Lagoon Road and the proposed Mar West realignment.

It further requested that the Belvedere Planning Commission study closing Cove and Lagoon roads.

ANOTHER HAT

Rey said, "Speaking as director of civil defense which is only one of my hats, Belvedere is seven-tenths water. There are only three streets providing access to the highway." He asked for a traffic count not only of Cove Road but San Rafael Avenue and Beach Road.

Arthur C. Knudsen of the Marin County Department of Public Works said the county would make a traffic count of all the roads if requested to do so.

A teen-age recreation program for the next two months was proposed by recreation commission chairman Charles E. Auerbach and accepted by the council. The program will provide for three evening events per month, two family movies and a dance restricted to Tiburon Peninsula students.

Donald Eager of Corte Madera will be hired as recreational director.

The Belvedere City Council also:

1. Instructed Rey to continue with landscaping plans for waterside of San Rafael Avenue.
2. Passed the uniform animal control ordinance.
3. Heard City Engineer Albert H. Siemer report Belvedere roads are good but Beach Road might be improved by replacing 50-year-old retaining walls and iron rail fences.
4. Heard a "horseback estimate" by Rey relative that Belvedere might need $457,900 over the next 20 years for retaining wall surfacing and road widening.
5. Disclaimed a bill from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for $3,500 for damage done when augur operated by San Jose Steel Co. cut a telephone cable at Del Mar School.
6. Split 2-2, Mayor Robert P. Watkins abstaining, on a motion to oppose overhead traffic control arches on Golden Gate Bridge.
7. Tabled a proposal to combine sewer maintenance with Tiburon Sanitary District.
8. Approved formation of a flood control district in Tiburon flatlands, a portion of which is in Belvedere.

Corte Madera Street Dirt Dumping Is Lashed

Contractors who dump dirt on Corte Madera streets got a tongue lashing last night from Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

Referring to dirt more than one-inch thick on Prince Royal Passage which he saw Saturday, Colthurst said, "These guys are in a tremendous rush to make a buck. I think it stinks."

The council decided to serve notice on San Clemente Land Co., which is developing Mariner Highlands, to halt spilling of dirt on streets. If notice is not adhered to within 48 hours, the city will halt further construction work by filing liens against the property, the council threatened.

Colthurst pointed out that two utility poles had been placed on the wrong side of the above the water tank. Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow said there was little the council could do about getting them back on the right side of the street.

The council was advised it could take no legal action against the Reed School District for dirt being dropped from trucks working on the site for Granada School. So Brandow was instructed to tell Police Chief Frank L. Nelson to station a police car in the area and cite truck drivers even if a "shovelful of dirt is dropped."

Colthurst commented, "It is impossible for people to keep their houses clean under these conditions."

Brochure On Novato Due May 10

A brochure advertising Novato will be published about May 10, David Fine of San Francisco reported last night to the Novato Chamber of Commerce board meeting at Nave Lanes.

Fine, who put out a similar brochure for Petaluma, said he had sold $6.075 in advertising in the brochure. Under the contract, the chamber will receive approximately $325 of this, plus $125 for advertising the brochure.

The board authorizing buying 12,500 post cards of a Novato scene for $195. These will be sold in drug stores.

Richard Nave, president, reported that a membership breakfast meeting scheduled for April 16 has been postponed until May, the exact date not set.

Salvation Army To Open Clothing Drive

The Salvation Army will open a three-day drive for clothing Thursday to aid victims of the Alaskan earthquake.

Anyone in Marin with clothing to offer may call the San Rafael headquarters of the Army. A truck will pick up the clothing. The nation-wide drive will continue through Saturday.

Weekend Bridge Tournament Draws 1,000 To San Rafael

Two Marin couples won first-overall victories during the three-day bridge tournament at Bermuda Palms Hotel during the weekend.

Over-all winners were Mrs. Matt Walburn and Mrs. Daisy White of Mill Valley in the consolidation pairs, and Marion Young of San Rafael and George Gustafson of Mill Valley in the Kentfield pairs.

About 1,000 bridge players from throughout the state competed for trophies and points. The Marin Unit of the American Contract Bridge League, headed by President Ludovica Bigelow of Belvedere, was host.

Here are the other Marin players who came in first or second:

Women's Pairs — Miss Bigelow and Hazel Strittmatter of Belvedere, first; Lura Crossley and Mildred Mazza of Greenbrae, first; Mrs. J. V. Cahill of Novato and Susan Cole of San Rafael, second.

In the men's Pairs, the best showing by Marin residents was a fifth place by Joseph Castro of San Rafael and Louis Angleman of Corte Madera.

Mill Valley Pairs—Cleone Myers of Kentfield and George Sibbald of San Rafael, first; Ruth Cassell of San Anselmo, first; Sue Takeshita and John Raymond of San Rafael, second.

Mixed Pairs—Dorothy Errigo of San Rafael and Peter Lit of Tiburon, first; Miss Bigelow and Roy Williams of Kentfield, second; Kenner Foote of Kentfield and Mrs. Strittmatter, second; Mrs. Crossley and Lou Sasselli of Corte Madera, second; Mrs. Cahill, second.

San Rafael Pairs—John Braman of San Rafael, second.

Junior Pairs—Jacqueline Koehler of San Rafael and Kay Lincoln of Mill Valley, first; Mrs. J. A. Arnone and Jean Williams of San Rafael, first.

Open Pairs—Alan Arnold of Mill Valley and Wat Takeshita of San Rafael, second.

Consolation Pairs—George Kelly and Dick Buschman of Mill Valley, second.

Novato Pairs — Marion Young and George Baker of San Anselmo, second.

Hamilton Air Force Base Pairs—John and Gertrude Raymond of San Rafael, first; Cleo Mueller of San Rafael, second; Sandra and J. L. Kretchmer of San Rafael, second.

Masters Pairs—Esther Ulrich of San Rafael, first; Eva Reed of San Rafael and Florence Perrine of Mill Valley, second; V. E. Langley of San Rafael, second.

Ross Pairs—Claire Cooke of San Anselmo and Gustafson, first; Mrs. Cassell, first; Edward and Catherine Foehr, second.

Sausalito Citizen Council Backing Appointive Clerk

The Sausalito Citizens Council board of directors last night decided unanimously to come out in favor of Proposition A, calling for appointment of city clerk, in next Tuesday municipal election.

The board had previously announced its suport of Proposition B, approving purchase of Shelter Cove Lots.

Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary, said the board also approved a report letter on the nine cadidates for city council which is to be mailed to all registered voters. The reason for the letter, said Spring, is to report on the council's candidates' night meeting of March 25.

Bassett Pulled Out Of Belvedere Race

Kirk W. Bassett withdrew his name from the list of candidates for election to the Belvedere City Council in the April 14 election.

The Independent-Journal reported incorrectly yesterday that Thomas Gene Siddle had been a candidate in the Belvedere election but was found to be ineligible. Siddle, who runs the Cat and the Fiddle in Sausalito, was found to be ineligible to run for the Sausalito City Council.

Sewer Line In Mill Valley Abandoned

The Mill Valley City Council last night voted to abandon the old Corte Madera Avenue sewer line, over strenuous objection of several property owners in the area.

The problem created by the line was again blamed on former City Administrator A. E. Almcrants, who resigned last October.

Objection was raised to the requirement that property owners will have to bear the cost of connecting sewer laterals to the new line and that those who would be allowed to continue using the old line would have to pay for its maintenance.

"If the old line is good enough for us to maintain, then it's good enough for the city to maintain," one property owner declared.

Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, in answer to a complaint that taxpayers who had to connect to the new line would have to pay for the connection, said, "No one is paying taxes to maintain lateral connections but only for maintenance of the trunk sewer line."

The resolution of intent to abondon the line effective next Dec. 6 was adopted by a 4-1 vote, with Councilman Michael Wornum voting "no."

Lagunitas School Vote Report Due

Lagunitas School District trustees, meeting at 8 p.m. today at the school, will hear a report on progress of the district tax election campaign.

It will be the final report from the citizens committee. The election to increase the district operating tax by 65 cents will be held next Tuesday.

The board will also consider a speech therapy contract, a hearing text program, site selection, and summer school.

Santa Rosan Hurt In Fairfax Crash

William Edward Heitz, 21, of Santa Rosa suffered minor cuts of the left arm, elbow and knee when his car overturned and struck an earth embankment at 1750 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, at 10:35 p.m. Saturday.

Heitz told Fairfax police he had been driving from Forest Knolls when he fell asleep at the wheel. He refused treatment.

Mill Valley Building Fire Walls Are Urged

A recommendation that all buildings in Mill Valley have one-hour fire-resistant exterior walls was presented to the Mill Valley City Council last night by Herbert Street, city building inspector.

The proposal was among recommendations to prevent disasterous fires such as those which have hit the Glendale and Bel Aire areas in Los Angeles County. It was submited in answer to Councilman George D. Monardo's request for a study of necessary fire prevention measures in Mill Valley.

Street stated: "Any amendment to our code which would restrict roof coverings to fire-retardant types would not in itself provide immunity from a fire catastrophe in a wooded area.

"It would, however, prevent the use of wood shakes and shingles which are generally considered to be a desirable architictural feature in keeping with the aesthetic image of Mill Valley."

Street recommended all roofing be fire-retardant or, if permitted to be combustible, be applied over fire-resistant sheathing.

He urged that all balconies and decks be protected by one-hour fire-resistant covering on the underside, and that the exposed underside of floors on stilt type buildings be protected by fire-resistant construction.

The building inspector suggested a series of meetings be held with representatives of local agencies within Marin County to present proposals for additional construction requirements.

"I do not feel that Mill Valley or ony other area should be bound to adopt any code as amended by the county," he said.

"Likewise, I believe that Mill Valley should not arbitrarily amend its code without first meeting with all other areas in the county which are interested in county-wide uniformity. Many aspects are to be considered such as expense to builders and owners as opposed to possible benefits derived."

Burglary Brings 1-Year Sentence

Chester Marlin Reno, 32, unemployed Novato salesman, was sentenced to a year in Marin County jail by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. yesterday on his plea of guilty to three counts of burglary and to forgery.

Reno, who resided at Bobo's Trailer Court, 7060 Redwood Highway, when arrested Feb. 22, was charged with the Nov. 14, 1963, burglary of the Pantry, 5949 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, the Jan. 13, 1964, entry of Dine and Stein Restaurant, same address, and the Feb. 7, 1964, breakin of Hancock Service Station, Lucas Valley Road off Highway 101.

The forgery was a $20 check passed at a Purity Store, records show.

Session Delayed

A meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, scheduled for tonight to discuss application of architects on future building in the elementary district, has been postponed until 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday to give board members more time to study applications.

Cattle Rustling Trial Set May 5

Trial of Earl Calvin Westerfield, 39, charged with cattle theft, is scheduled May 5 in Marin Superior Court.

Westerfield, an employee of the Dr. James H. Kleiser ranch at 5325 Chileno Valley Road in northwest Marin County, allegedly stole five head of cattle there March 10.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST ABOUT WESTERN 65

- Pre-existing illness is immediately covered by Western 65's plans except where an applicant has had medical services for a given medical condition during the 90 days before the effective date of his insurance. The 6-month waiting period applies only to that medical condition. Some other plans available in California automatically impose a 6-month waiting period if the applicant EVER had medical services for a pre-existing illness.
- For the purpose of determining your hospital benefits, each successive period of hospital or convalescent hospital confinement, regardless of cause, will be considered as one period of confinement unless there is at least 90 days between such periods of confinement.
- Benefits are payable up to $5000 per year with a maximum of $10,000.
- Duplication of benefits...Western 65 pays on top of all other plans, provided the total does not exceed 100% of the individual's insured medical expenses. This simply means that Western 65's benefits are combined with other insurance plans to pay 100% of an insured's medical expenses. Excess benefits payable will be applied to any future claims during the year. There is no mystery connected with this.
- Expenses not payable under Western 65 are for: injuries and diseases covered by Workmen's Compensation; services and supplies furnished without charge by any Government; treatment of any mental or nervous condition except while confined as a patient in a hospital for at least 24 hours; dental care; cosmetic surgery; eye examinations; glasses; hearing aids; certain treatments of the feet; diseases or injuries caused by war.

Corte Madera Votes Against Transit Bill

The Corte Madera Town Council, with only three members present, last night voted to oppose the State Assembly bill would set up a Marin Transit District.

The council suggested state legislators from Marin County, the board of supervisors and city councilmen meet to draft a new bill.

Objections to the present bill, introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael), centered around the lack of city representation on the district board and the 60 per cent "yes" vote needed for its formation.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said he was "unalterably opposed to the bill in its present form."

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said he was "opposed to many elements of this bill."

Colthurst suggested the council go on record as opposing the bill to "forewarn the supervisors, because when they go to implement this, they may run into some smoke."

The council also had some criticism for the proposal for the county planning staff to handle planning for cities.

Pendleton, pointing out that Corte Madera budgets only $1,500 a year for a planning consultant, said, "they would be beefing up the county staff at the expense of the cities."

Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow said the service would be paid for by everyone through the tax rate, regardless of whether they lived in Tomales or one of the cities. San Rafael and Novato, the county's two largest cities, have indicated they do not want the service, he said.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Reaffirmed the action of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen opposing installation of traffic control arches on the Golden Gate Bridge.
2. Set a public hearing on the proposed uniform fire ordinance for its May 4 meeting, with Pendleton objecting to provisions in the code for fire protection in garages and service stations.
3. Asked Brandow to investigate car repairing activity in the garage of apartments on the northwest corner of Redwood and Corte Madera avenues.
4. Appointed James McClintock of 30 Buena Vista to fill the longest term of two vacancies on the park and recreation commission.
5. Decided to plant with trees or ivy two areas of a total 140 feet along the town's drainage system north of Neil Cummins School.
6. Agreed to create a new police officer position and hire a man from the eligibility list to fill the position, while keeping open the job of Officer Charles Newman, who suffered a heart attack last week.
7. Adopted an agreement between the county and the town for animal control.
8. Referred to the streets committee a map showing development of major arterials and secondary streets.

Councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Norman R. Barnett were absent.

Clausen Backs Commercial Fisheries Act

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), announced today he has endorsed the Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act "for the help it would give the troubled commercial fishing industry."

The Act also would help indirectly, Clausen said, "the thousands of sportsmen in California who like to drop a salmon spinner or cluster of salmon eggs into the North Coast rivers of my district."

The Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act has passed the Senate and now is before the House subcommittee on fisheries and wildlife conservation. It would provide more than 28 million dollars in federal grants to states for commercial fishery research based on the extent of their commercial fishery activity.

Fireman Cares For Injured Deer

A Tamalpais Valley fireman's kindness led him to take a deer into his household for a few hours.

Fireman Carl Carlson kept the animal overnight Saturday after it ran into a car on Shoreline Highway near Pinecrest Road. The fire department did not report the name of the motorist, whose car was not damaged.

A fellow fireman said Carlson released th edeer Sunday to return to its natural haunts.

Study Of All Span Traffic Plans Urged

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday urged directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District to take a good look at all possible systems for controlling bridge traffic—including the controversial plan for erecting 13 arches to hold lane control signals.

The commission passed a motion set forth by Commissioner Felix M. Warburg, asking bridge directors to consider all systems equally, on the grounds of "aesthetics, safety and cost."

Noting that the directors will again discuss the issue at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Warburg took issue with reports that they had "irrevocably decided to go ahead" with the arch plan, which has drawn fire from numerous individuals and public bodies in Marin.

If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest.—Benjamin Franklin.

Marin Planners Vote Again To Approve Tiburon Building

The Marin County Planning Commission, acting for the second time on a proposed Tiburon office building, voted 4-2 yesterday to approve Frederick G. Zelinsky's request to build the structure on Marin Street between Beach road and Juanita Lane without submitting a master plan for the entire property.

Voting against the action were Commissioners Felix M. Warburg and Charles R. Johnson, while Dr. William F. Upton was absent.

The matter was referred back to the commission by the board of supervisors after Tiburon Fire District officials asked that Zelinsky be required to install some 300 feet of water main to the property before he erected the two-story building.

Warburg said he agreed with Zelinsky's attorney, Leland H. Jordan, that requiring installation of the water line was asking more than had been asked of many others whose projects were approved by the county. But he repeated his earlier opinion that Zelinsky, who owns most of the surrounding property, should file a master plan.

Commissioners also briefly considered whether an upcoming election, to decide if Tiburon should be incorporated, took the matter out of their hands. They concluded it did not.

The commission denied a Novato woman's request to set up a private swimming club at 2184 Novato Boulevard, Novato.

Although commissioners ruled out a staff suggestion that the 300 to 400 member club proposed by Jane Smith might "undercut" public facilities, they agreed the two acres involved was too small to handle such an operation.

Staff members also argued also that such clubs "are custumarily very noisy operations," so that it would constitute a nuisance. Also, they said, the club could "tend to create traffic and parking problems."

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Granted San Rafael auto dealer Leon C. Felton a permit for a building at 920 Redwood Highway, Alto, overruling a staff recommendation that Felton should be required to dedicate strips of land on two sides of the property to allow street widening. It also recommended to the county board of supervisors that Felton be given permission to make auto repairs in a limited highway business district, where it is not ordinarily allowed.
2. Denied two applications which would have led to construction of a four-unit apartment building at 376 Sunset Way, Tamalpais Valley. Applicant Conrad Weissensee was told his proposed parking area, which would have gone into the right-of-way, was not feasible, and would compound "the poor existing layout" of buildings.
3. Approved a proposed school site for the Reed Union School District southeast of Trestle Glen Boulevard and southwest of Hacienda Drive. The 11.5-acre parcel will be used for an elementary school.
4. Set hearings for April 20 and May 4 on McGraw-Hill Book Co.'s plans for a distribution center on a 100-acre site north of Novato.
5. Gave Eichler Homes permission to change the Marinwood Master Plan, swapping some two acres now set aside for apartments with other land designated for a shopping center.

All commissioners were present at the start of the all-day meeting, but Dr. Upton left midway through the morning session. Johnson departed during the afternoon session.

Public Safety Building Bonds Given Backing

Directors of the Christmas Tree Hill Dwellers Assn. voted Thursday night to support the $200,000 bond issue to build a public safety building and new fire house in Corte Madera.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said today that with the endorsement of this association, all improvement associations and organizations in the town have approved the bond issue which residents will vote on at the April 14 municipal election.

Sheriff's Marine Patrol Seeks 10 Civilian Sailors

The Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol, a search and rescue unit, is seeking 10 more civilian sailors to join the ranks.

The patrol recently was authorized to increase its complement from 25 to 35 men because of the increased traffic on Marin County waterways.

Applicants must have experience and basic knowledge in piloting and boat-handling including assistance to disabled vessels and their personnel, a fair knowledge of first aid, a willingness to serve without pay and carry out orders, and the ability to serve as a reserve deputy sheriff with self-control and courtesy.

Candidates may send their applications to Charles Yancey, yeoman, P. O. Box 4444, San Rafael.

Parks Group To Meet

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission will meet at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center to discuss recreation needs of the handicapped and to review the master plans for Paradise Beach Park, presented to the county board of supervisors today.

Telephone Directories On The Way

Delivery of the 1964 Marin County telephone directory began today and will be completed Friday, according to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The directory, bigger than ever, has a cover scene showing late summer afternoon sunlight and shadow on the Mount Tamalpais Mountain Theater.

About 88,500 directories will be delivered, 6,000 more than last year, reported Gordon C. Davenport, district manager.

Each directory contains 185 white pages with 55,484 listings and 432 yellow pages. "More than 120 tons of paper were used to print the current directories," Davenport said.

No Trace Is Found Of Escaped Inmates

No trace has been found of two San Quentin Prison inmates who walked away from the prison's farm Saturday night, Associate Warden Dale B. Frady reported today.

The inmates, Marin Wayne O'Dell, 29, and Donald Frank Bonita, 28, were at the farm at the 10 p.m. check but were gone one hour later.

AN OLDSMOBILE SEDAN COMES OUT OF A J-TURN AT OUR MICHIGAN PROVING GROUND.

ALL AROUND THE CLOCK
ALL AROUND THE CALENDAR
ALL AROUND THE COUNTRY
ALL AROUND THE CAR

An Oldsmobile sedan speeds onto the skid pad and the driver spins the steering wheel as far as it will go. This is the J-turn the engineers at our Michigan Proving Ground use to test wheel design and suspension. And to prove that the tires will stay on the rims without loss of air pressure, despite the stresses and strains of doing it over and over again. We use tests this tough because, to us, proving a car all around means testing every part, from the wheels to the roof, to know just how well it will do for you. That means thousands of hours of outdoor challenges. It means testing cars indoors on specially built precision laboratory equipment. Other times, it means driving a car into the countryside on a winter's night. Whether it's done in Michigan, at Pikes Peak, in Arizona, or on the public highways, it means testing GM cars the long way, the hard way, the right way... on the world's truest proving grounds. And testing before they go into production. That's why a GM car is so likely to be worth more when you buy it, as you drive it, when you trade it in.

Funds Sought For Novato High Work

The Novato Unified School District board last night approved plans for completing Novato High School, and made application to the state for $850,000 in funds for the job.

"This will add approximately 40 per cent to the capacity of the high school," Supt. James G. Bunker said. It will increase the possible enrollment from 1,200 students to 1,750, he said.

Included in the proposed additions are a boys' locker room, team teaching and lecture room, speech arts building, three science rooms, three classrooms, a new drafting room, and an auto mechanics shop.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Donald Robinson as speech therapist for the district and hired Barbara Hoadley to replace him. Also hired were Joanne Brusin for fourth grade at Rancho School, Walter Dolan for fourth grade at Marion School, David Francis for sixth grade at Rancho, Susan Zeran for mathematics at Hill Junior High School, and Alice Graham as librarian at the same school.

West Marin School Hiked Budget Studied

Trustees of the West Marin School District last night began consideration of a 1964-65 budget of $163,000, up $29,000 over the current one.

Supt. Howard F. Brose said the recommended additions include $1,900 for repair of parking and playground surfaces, $3,000 for conversion of the multi-purpose room to a classroom, and about $9,000 for teachers' raises.

Trustees took no action on Brose's budget rcommendations and set a special meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. to consider the salary increases requested by teachers.

The teachers' salary committee has requested a 5 per cent increase, plus the addition of a six classification in the schedule.

Brose anticipates that a general purpose tax of $2.10 per $100 assessed valuation will be needed to support his recommended budget. General purpose tax this year is $1.60, but voters on March 17 approved an incrase in the limit to $2.40.

In addition, the district levies 56 cents for overrides and bond repayment.

Trustees approved $2,242 in purchases for next school year's language program. Half of the sum will be paid by federal funds through the National Defense Education Act.

27 Marin 4-H Club Winners Will Compete In Field Day

Twenty-seven 4-H Club members from Marin will compete in the Regional 4-H Field Day at Davis May 2.

The contestants were gold medal winners at Saturday's county field day in Novato. There were more than 70 demonstrations and there were seven talent contests.

Members of the Tomales 4-H Club won the talent competition and will represent the county in the Rural Arts and Recreation contest at Davis.

Gold medal winners were:

Beverly Mager and Judy Tompioner of Marin Mounted Club; Joan Eischen and Michele Olivier of Miwok Club; Darlene Dolchini, Linda Dolchini, Michael Tomasini and Terry Tomasini of the Nicasio Club; Shelley Rocca, Julieann Salmine and Lynette Bobo of the Novato Aggie Club; Nancy Metzker and Leonard Rodriguez of the Novato Jets; Sharon Bomio, Shirley Bomio, Sandy Henry and Susan Henry of the Novato Valley Club; Karen Roark and Tom Roark of the Point Reyes-Olema Club; Virginia Lally and Andrea Nuessle of the Ross Valley Club; Linda Fitzharris and Jeanne Tunison of the San Rafael Community Club; Ann Cunningham, Kathy Erickson and Bob Parks of the Tomales Club, and Larry Van Note of the Tri-Valley Club.

Theft From Car

Robert Stewart Moy of 1586 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Apt. 8, San Anselmo, reported to Novato police that two tires, wheels and hub caps were taken from his 1940 model car while it was parked in the Novato High School parking lot sometime between Friday and yesterday.

Street Care Service Hit In Mill Valley

"We are getting less for our money than citizens in any other city in Marin County," David Minto of 34 East Manor Drive, Mill Valley, told the Mill Valley Council last night at the "open forum" before the regular council meeting.

He presented a mimeographed, two-page statement to the council and the press and declared, "Something is amiss in the operation of our government here."

Minto said Mill Valley is spending $400,000 more for fewer services than is San Anselmo.

Criticizing street department policies set by the council, he said San Anselmo maintains over 50 miles of accepted and unaccepted streets and also has a policy for maintenance of private roads whereby adjacent property owners pay for materials and the city supplies the equipment and personnel.

In comparison, Mill Valley, according to Minto, maintains only 40 miles of accepted "A" streets and does not maintain private roads—but it spends $50,000 more than is allocated by San Anselmo.

"San Anselmo has a full-time city engineer and an assistant for $16,687 per year, whereas Mill Valley will spend close to $50,000 this fiscal year for a part-time city engineer," he declared.

Daughter Born To Be Airborne

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) —Mr and Mrs. Norman Lane are old hands at flying, and their year-old daughter is beginning to feel at home in the air too.

Mrs. Lane is a former stewardess and her husband is a fleet service clerk for an airline. Their baby made her first flight at the age of three months to visit her grandparents in Atlanta, Ga., and since then has logged more than 18,000 miles on her dad's passes.

Owner Is Given Time In Landscape Dispute

San Rafael city councilmen talked tough last night about builder Douglas M. Christensen's encroachment from the 400 Apartments onto Canal Street, but wound up in effect giving him until April 20 to do something about it.

City Atty. David Menary Jr., who had given Christensen only until tomorrow to remove extensive landscaping, sidewalks and other obstructions from the street right-of-way, talked softly and suggested maybe the encroachments weren't so bad after all.

The council authorized City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to deny occupancy permits for the apartments unless they had already been issued. But Andersen reported today it is too late: occupancy permits for the entire apartment complex have already been issued.

Menary said he had told William G. Corrigan, attorney for Christensen, that he believed the city council would be amenable to a compromise, and had set up a meeting with Public Director Norris Rawles for Friday to discuss one.

"You're awfully close to being wrong," declared Mayor John F. McInnis, criticizing the city attorney for "making policy."

"I think the only thing that's going to make a Christian out of that man (Christensen) is to take the city's bulldozer down and tear that out."

The landscaping, sidewalks, etc., extend 35 feet into the street right-of-way at a bend in Canal Street, and four to six feet at other points. They were installed without a permit.

Only good word for the encroachments from the council side of the desk came from Councilman Harry A. Barbier.

"I think the landscaping's a thing of beauty," said Barbier.

Upshot, however, was to give Christensen until the next meeting—April 20—to remove the encroachments or "present his side of the story."

Special Plates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sixteen states and the District of Columbia use reflective auto license plates, which show up brilliantly at night, as a safety measure. It is estimated about 14 million cars and trucks are equipped with such plates.

Drainage Area Plea Is Gaining

A sufficient land owners' signatures to form a drainage district — slightly over 60 per cent — were received last night by the Tiburon Sanitary District, according to secretary Robert A. Sterling.

Signitures include Frederick G. Zelinsky, Belvedere Land Co., Donovan O. Cook, and residents of the east side of Cove Road.

However, a guarantee of preliminary engineering expenses of approximately $12,000 from property owners and the county will be required before the district can proceed further, according to Sterling.

The five directors turned down a raise for themselves, Sterling said. They receive $20 a month and could receive $30 a month by law.

The board voted to start social security for its three employees.

It is considering the purchase of $8,000 worth of additional sewer cleaning equipment, according to Sterling.

The sanitary district board discussed the 1964-65 budget but tabled action on it until the next meeting.

Brown Says Special Groups Blocking Legislative Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today accused special interests of blocking two major bills in his legislative program.

The governor said lobbyists for banks and savings and loan associations have stymied his plan to creat an Office of Housing and Community Development.

"The lobbyists said they don't want any housing agency in the state," Brown told his news conference. He said they have blocked his bill "up to and including this moment."

He also indicated special interests have held up action on his measures to abolish the principal office deduction on state insurance taxes.

Brown said the offset amounts to a 4.7-million-dollar-a-year subsidy of insurance companies, many of whom in turn rent out space in their home office buildings and pay their real estate taxes with the rental.

Noting the exemption is granted by the state constitution and would have to be abolished by a vote of the people, he said:

"All I want to do is put up to the people whether they want to keep this subsidy . . . but I can't get these bills moving."

On other matters:

CRESCENT CITY — Brown said he'll call a special session to permit enactment of tax relief measures by the legislature for Crescent City tidal wave victims.

ENGLE — He said he will have nothing more to say about the health of U.S. Sen. Clair Engle unless he sees a detailed medical report.

UTILITIES — Said the U.S. Supreme Court decision against acquisition of the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. by the El Paso Natural Gas Co. will save California purchasers of natural gas $60 million to $90 million a year.

TAX—Said he will not seek a possessory interest tax bill this year and will not sign one if it is sent to him.

Market Surface Logic Often Misleading

Psychology Of Stock Market Timing

By PETER WYCKOFF
(Second in a series)

One of the first things a person may discover about the stock market is that seemingly logical behavior is almost certain to be wrong behavior.

Indeed, one of the most charming features of the market is that one may prosper there by being illogical. Or at any rate, one's chances for success are greatly enhanced by doing what seems to be illogical. To follow mere obvious, surface logic is very often fatal.

This is the time to start picking up discarded values that are now strewn everywhere throughout the list. Several months may be required before prices finally stabilize and accumulation for the long haul back upward begins. But the market will recover eventually and, as conditions improve and industry climbs to its feet, the tide of profits begins to turn; rippling back into channels where stocks have lain high and dry and neglected, it floats them into prominence again.

Just as when there is no use for the tractor the farmer is idle, so when great industries are inactive, floating capital lies idle and is cheap. At such a time the investor with clear foresight and ability is in position to profit without much risk. But if he waits until every phase of uncertainty is removed and doubt is lifted, he will keep on waiting . . . waiting.

A fallacy is to suppose that mutual funds are always going to "save" the market by supporting key stocks on any reaction. True, the funds and various institutions have ample reserves for investing in selected securities when the moment is appropriate. But this carrot-on-the-stick situation can endure only for so long as new sales of the funds exceed the redemptions. If cancellations top sales for any length of time, the fund managers will be obliged to join the selling side.

It is erroneous to suppose that they can remain impervious to gyrations in the stock market. Moreover, a person whose portfolio consists only of mutual funds will be just as ready to sell them in a time of stress as he would any listed stocks.

Finally, it has been almost traditional in Wall Street to assume that a bull market cannot end until the low-priced "cats and dogs" have had a whirl upstairs. But this no longer is true. For one thing, the public has more expensive tastes and is far more discriminating about what to buy and what to avoid.

For another, the high-flying "Buck Rogers" issues, which travel five or more points in a day and might also be candidates for a stock split, are much more in vogue. The public currently seems to think that most stocks in the lower-priced echelons are on the wrong side of the market tracks.

SHIPYARD BECOMES SUPERMARKET SITE

The Big G Market tomorrow will open near Gate 3 Road, Marinship, where 20 years ago the area rang with the clash of steel assemblies as they were lowered into storage positions. The 25,000-square foot market will have a complete grocery department, along with meats, liquors and produce. A delicatessen will be operated in conjunction with the meat department. Frozen foods and dairy products will be featured in triple-deck open upright freezers. There is a separate department carrying soft goods. Parking facilities will handle 130 cars. Heavy Trading But Steels Have Turndown

NEW YORK (AP)—A decline by steels led a stock market downturn today. Trading was heavy at the close.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6 million shares compared with 5.85 million yesterday.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

Steels fell on news that eight steel companies had been indicted on charges of conspiring to eliminate price competition in the carbon sheet steel industry.

Down about 2 were Jones and Laughlin and Republic Steel. U.S. Steel lost more than a point, Bethlehem a fraction.

Sharp profit taking in airlines continued. Continental Air Lines looked like the most active stock as it lost a point. Down more than 2 were Pan American and United Air Lines.

Coppers continued to recover. Phelps Dodge was up 2, Anaconda more than a point, Kennecott about a point.

IBM, which announced a new line of computers, was up more than 4 around midday then showed a net loss of 7. Control Data gained more than a point. Polaroid 2.

Cigarette stocks also encountered profit taking.

Big Three motors declined.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed.

Corporate bonds edged higher. U.S. government bonds improved.

Vehicle Facility Planned In Peru

DETROIT—Plans to build a 3.4-million-dollar assembly and manufacturing facility in Peru for production of Chrysler and Simca vehicles has been announced by I. J. Minnett, group vice president, International Operations of Chrysler Corp.

Construction of the plant in the Lima-Callao area will start as soon as contracts with the Peruvian government are formally signed, Minett said, and the first vehicle production is scheduled for mid-1965.

New Construction For 1964 Forecast

NEW YORK (UPI) — The continuing growth of suburbs will play a large part in pushing the construction industry to another record year in 1964, according to Charles S. Jensen, president of C.I.T. Corporation, industrial and commercial financing firm.

He noted that government support for construction of new suburban communities was included in the $1.6-billion dollar housing program President Johnson submitted to Congress.

Firm Will Produce Welded Steel Beams

CHICAGO—Inland Steel has announced the letting of a contract for equipment to produce welded steel beams at its Indiana Harbor Works in East Chicago, Ind.

John F. Smith Jr., president, said that the new equipment which will weld plates together to form "H" shaped wide flange beams, will enable the company to produce all the sizes of such beams now commercially rolled in this country.

Marin Redwood Bank Stock Split Is Voted

Shareholders of the Redwood National Bank, San Rafael, at a meeting yesterday voted to split the capital stock and issue two shares for one, as recommended by the board of directors last month.

Under the arrangement a total of 86,000 outstanding shares having a par value of $10 each will be converted to 172,000 shares at $5 par value.

Bonds Purchased

SAN FRANCISCO—A Bank of America underwriting syndicate which included Wells Fargo Bank and Crocker-Citizens National Bank has purchased the 15-million-dollar bond issue of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District.

Expert Sees Economy As Good Through 1964

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The nation's economy is in a strong, prosperous phase and prospects for a substantial further advance are good through 1964.

That summary was given today by Albert T. Sommers, director of economic research for the National Industrial Conference Board. He told San Francisco businessmen, however, that business "perhaps will become sensitive to recession by early 1965."

"The nation's economy shows no signs of faltering and business trends today suggest even more youthful vigor than 15 months ago," he said.

"The length of this expansion now exceeds the average length of peacetime expansions by a considerable margin. The world's most productive economy is in a phase of increasing and widely distributed prosperity, and the material results of this combination are spectacular."

Then Sommers, after making a case for a substantial further advance in business conditions, noted that "some aspects of early 1964 raise the possibility that business will grow less rapidly late in the year, and perhaps will become sensitive to recession by early 1965."

European Investors May Increase In U.S.

NEW YORK—A leading Wall Street financier envisions a "substantial increase" in the purchase of American securities by the European investors over the next 12 months.

Harold L. Bache, directing partner of Bache and Co. said that recent world trade and economic developments have been conducive in establishing a "most favorable climate" today—more so than at any time in history—for the acceptance of U.S. securities in the financial centers of Europe.

In all states, birth certificates must be filed with the local registrar within 10 days after birth.

Multiple Listing Sales Figures For March Are Up 25 Per Cent

Multiple Listings sales figures for March are now in, and show more than a 25-per cent gain over Marin sales in March, 1963—15 per cent gain in actual number of sales. That difference of 10 per cent is accounted for by the fact that there has been just about that much increase in the value of the average home listed on multiple in the last year.

Total sales for last month were $5,250,815.

THE LATEST we have on Marin real estate loans is for February—when they dropped to $20,545,890, 14 per cent less than February of last year, according to the data sheet of Title Insurance and Trust Co. But thanks to a heavier January showing this year and a poorer one last year, the two-month period for 1964 is still ahead.

February loans made by savings and loan firms took a higher percentage than usual—57 per cent of the total.

OWNERS Gary S. Morey and Howard Van Orden Jr. of the Junior Boot Shops of Marin have signed a lease for a third store in the Novato-Fair Shopping Center. It is expected to open about July 11.

Other stores in San Anselmo and San Rafael were opened 15 and six years ago respectively.

EUGENE A. FEISE of Fairfax, traffic manager for Calaveras Cement Co., has been elected president of the Transportation Club of San Francisco, succeeding Franklin E. Kriebel.

HERBERT G. DRAKE of Belvedere has been elected a vice president of N. W. Ayer and Son. He joined the advertising agency's San Francisco office last July after 28 years in advertising and publications. Drake was formerly senior vice president and director of Ted Bates and Co., and a vice president of J. Walter Thompson Co. in New York.

EVAN B. HIRSCH of Mill Valley has joined Bank of America as advertising officer for BankAmericard and the bank's leasing division. He was previously account executive with Richard Meltzer Advertising and McCann-Erickson in San Francisco.

AD-RITE COPY WRITING SERVICE is a new organization formed by Emelie L. Wilson of Marinwood and previously in sales with the Terra Linda News. It is designed to help local real estate offices write listing ads and for writing advertising copy for other local businessmen.

NEW INSTRUCTOR at Arthur Murray Dance Studio in San Rafael assisting David Michaels is Robert Kelly of Sausalito. He had nine years with Arthur Murray in Oakland.

FORMER SAN RAFAEL RESIDENT Edwin A. Wells (now living in Portola Valley) has joined forces with Richard M. Bartle in the formation of Bartle Wells Associates which will be devoted to municipal financial consulting. They will have offices at 260 California Street, San Francisco, and in Los Angeles.

Bartle and Wells were formerly general partners in Stone and Youngberg. They have been directing financial consulting on public improvement projects during the last 10 years. Wells' parents are residents of Bayside Acres. He is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

MARDY G. HORRELL, owner of Pools by Mardy in San Rafael, has been elected president of the Northern California Swimming Pool Assn. He will serve a one-year term ending March, 1965. Frank Allen of Allen Pool Co. in San Anselmo, has been made membership chairman. Association offices are in Menlo Park.

L. B. Smith Honored For 40 Years With Life Firm

Lloyd B. Smith, manager of the San Rafael district office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was honored at a banquet last week at the Elks Club, in celebration of his 40th year with the company.

Half of Smith's 40 years with Metropolitan have been spent as manager of the San Rafael office.

Tribute was paid to him at the dinner by men who have long since been promoted to managers of other districts in California and Idaho. He received a silver tray engraved with the signatures of all the representatives and assistant managers who are now associated with him in San Rafael.

Smith and his wife live in Greenbrae. They have four children and 11 grandchildren. He is a member of the Rotary Club, Life Underwriters Assn., Masonic lodge, and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Confident Al Dark Rates Giants Better Balanced For 1964 Race

CONNOLLY

A new Alvin Dark, certainly surer of himself, if not of the pitching talents of his ball club, leads the Giants into our midst prepared for a whale of a season in 1964.

You may recall a few months ago there were reports of Manager Dark and owner Horace Stoneham being somewhat at "outs." But apparently they have reached a better understanding and seem in complete accord on the program, which briefly consists of playing rookies Jay Alou and Jim Hart as regulars, and giving young pitching prospects an opportunity to pitch. It is on this platform that Alvin, more cheerful, has begun to develop a taste for closer public relations.

"I believe we have a better balanced team, deeper and stronger pitching, fine spirit," the Giant manager states. "We hope we can escape serious injuries. I think our attack will be stronger, our defense better.

"We're counting heavily on Jim Hart and Jay Alou, rookies, making the grade. We think Del Crandall will be of great aid to our pitching staff and lend us a stronger bench with teammates Harvey Kuehn, Chuck Hiller and other supporting the reserve group.

"PITCHING IS most vital to our success," continues Dark, "and I think we're well fortified. Without using crystal ball methods I would venture we have one of the best pitching staffs in the National League.

"Hitting, of course, is the Giants' big forte and we're mighty fortunate in that respect."

So you see how the confidence of Manager Dark is reflected in his estimate of the Giants for 1964.

From what I've seen of Hart and Jay Alou, I'd have to say they're worth a gamble. Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley, the two big pitchers, have indicated they know what it is all about. But they're no cinches, if you base your hopes on their 1963 records.

Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell, Juan Marichal and Bob Bolin, in my estimation, really have to carry the load in 1964. Any help they get from Shaw, Hendley, Jim Duffalo, Ron Herbel, Gaylord Perry or Billy Pierce will greatly enhance the Giants' chances.

THE BIGGEST task facing Manager Dark is handling the pitching group, first with an eye to the pennant, and secondly with an eye to developing the youngsters. If Herbel and Perry can't work this year they're better off being sold or traded. And the same goes for Duffalo and other staff members of the clinging vine category.

There have been rumbles of the Giants seeking a power hitter of the Ed Bailey type. It has been denied by those in charge, but the rumor persists. Duke Snider, a long ball hitter, was mentioned and he would be welcome, especially in Candlestick Park.

IN THE sizeup of the 1964 Giants there is only one position that could cause a carload of grief. I refer to the shortstop spot. If anything seriously happened to Jose Pagan it would have a crippling effect as Gil Garrido, his understudy, is Pagan's equal defensively but falls a million miles short with the bat.

Jay Alou in rightfield is being flanked by all sorts of support. One of the replacements, if needed concerns catcher Tom Haller. Should Alou weaken, Manager Dark may decide to try Haller as a flyhawk and shift the main catching responsibilities to Del Crandall. Harvey Kuene is also a likely sub for Alou in case of disaster.

Giants—Cactus League 'Champs'

FRESNO (AP) —The San Francisco Giants come home from pre-season play bearing the championship of the Cactus League and some gaudy batting averages.

In beating the Chicago Cubs 9-7 yesterday in Phoenix, the Giants boosted their record in Cactus League play to 21-5.

All but one of the Giants expected to be in the starting lineup April 14 when San Francisco opens the season against Milwaukee at Candlestick Park tore Arizona pitching apart for better than .300 averages.

First baseman Orlando Cepeda paced the batting binge with a .438 average. His hits included four doubles, five triples and a team-leading six home runs. He also batted 26 runs across to lead San Francisco in that category.

Centerfielder Willie Mays also enjoyed a fine spring, rapping the ball for a .411 average. Willie McCovey hit .391, Jimmy Davenport was .326 and catcher Tom Haller hit .315.

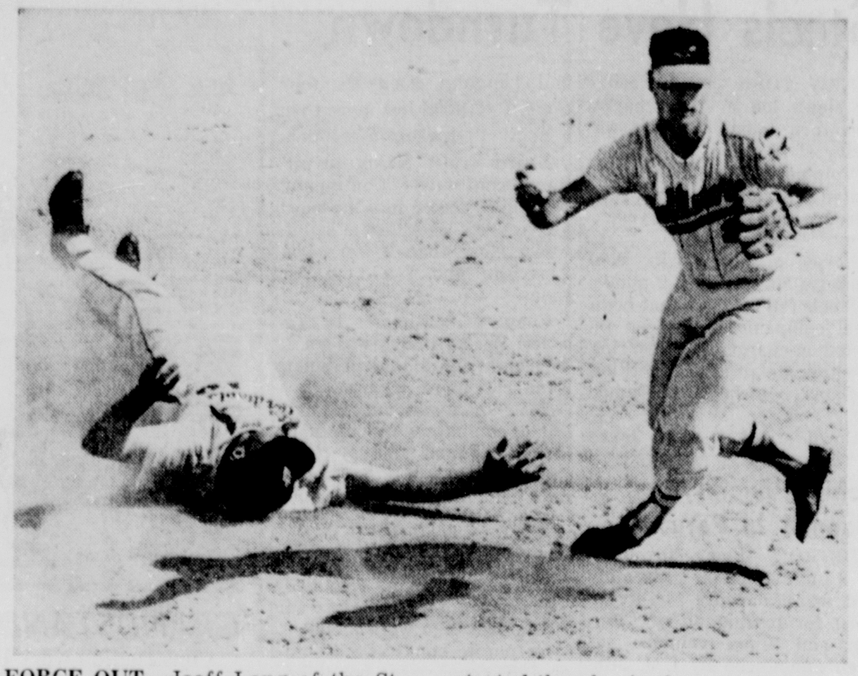
Only regular outside the .300 circle was shortstop Jose Pagan at .238.

The averages most pleasing to manager Alvin Dark, however, were those compiled by a pair of rookies he's counting on heavily in this year's pennant chase.

Jesus Alou, a candidate to replace his traded brother Felipe in right field, came through with a .387 average. And Jim Ray Hart, who is being counted on to plug the gap left by Davenport's switch to second, hit Cactus League pitching at a .351 pace.

The Giants, enjoying an open date today, swing into action tomorrow here against the Cleveland Indians in the first of a five-game California series that will end the spring training season. Lefty Billy O'Dell will take the mound for the Giants in the opener.

Veteran reliever Bob Bolin will start for the Giants "B" squad in a game against the Cleveland second - liners at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.



FORCE OUT—Jeoff Long of the St. Louis Cardinals is forced out at second base by Baltimore Orioles shortstop Bob Johnson who was too late for throw to first. Tim McCarver started the play in the seventh inning of the exhibition game at St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday with a grounder to second base. Baltimore nipped the Cards, 1-0. (AP Wirephoto)

EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

Howard Returns Punch To Dodgers' Batting Attack

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant dragon, is breathing fire again and that means that Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, can breathe just a little bit easier.

Howard, whose hulking 6-foot-7 form was conspiciously absent from the Dodger training camp for most of the spring, turned up last week and the flimsy Los Angeles attack has not been the same since.

The giant-sized outfielder stroked two more hits last night as Los Angeles whipped the New York Yankees 5-1 in an exhibition game. It brought his spring production to six hits in 15 appearances for a .400 average.

PROBLEMS

Personal problems kept Howard out of the Dodger camp until last week and without his bat the Dodger attack was somewhat on the skimpy side. Howard's lifetime slugging average of .512, tops among the Dodgers and ninth best among active players, adds a needed punch to Alston's cast.

Howard's hitting shared the spotlight with Sandy Koufax' pitching. The Dodger ace hurled six strong innings, allowing five hits and striking out six.

ANGELS WIN

Bo Belinsky, the Los Angeles Angel southpaw, continues to impress the Angel's Palm Springs, Calif. camp. He won his second game of the spring yesterday, allowing only three hits in six innings as Los Angeles defeated the Cleveland Indians 7-1.

Roger Craig, who had trouble getting runs with the New York Mets, is running into the same difficulty with the St. Louis Cardinals. Craig, the victim of 12 shutouts last season, shared pitching chores with Ray Sadecki and Bob Humphries and the Cards wound up on the short end of a 1-0 verdict against Baltimore.

MOTA 'SLAMS'

Elsewhere, Ken Johnson of Houston pitched six perfect innings but lost when Milwaukee bunched four hits for two runs in the second inning and a 2-1 victory. Manny Mota socked a grand slam homer, highlighting a six-run Pittsburgh rally and a 12-4 victory over Minnesota.

Kansas City lost its fifth straight as Detroit rallied for six runs in the last two innings and an 8-7 victory. Willie Mays clubbed two doubles and a triple as San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 9-7. The Chicago White Sox nipped the Mets 2-1 and Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 5-3.

Celtics Go For Sweep Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defense, a word seldom heard around the National Basketball Assn., plays a major role tonight as the Boston Celtics seek an unprecedented four-straight sweep in the Eastern Division finals against the Cincinnati Royals.

The Celtics who dropped seven of 12 regular season games with the Royals, have unleashed a tenacious defense in sweeping the first three games of the series. Cincinnati, held to a top production of 92 points, seems doomed even with an apparent return to form by ailing Jerry Lucas and Oscar Robertson.

In the Western Division final, the St. Louis Hawks and San Francisco Warriors resume their series tomorrow with the Hawks carrying a 2-1 margin.

Don't count Wilt Chamberlain and the Warriors out of it though. Their 35-point victory Saturday night was also a study in defense with the Hawks managing just 85 points. A repeat performance would bring the Warriors right back in the thick of things.

Rains Hike Nicklaus' Chances In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — With every drop of rain, the Augusta National Golf Course grew longer, and the field for the Masters got smaller.

"This course always favors the long hitter," said veteran Byron Nelson. "And with a soaking rain, it favors the man who hits the ball a long way in the air. That's Jack Nicklaus."

"The rain cuts the field of players with a good chance down to only four or five," said the even more veteran Gene Sarazen. "Nicklaus, and just a handful of others; Arnold Palmer, old Sam Snead, maybe. And among the youngsters, Rex Baxter and Jack Rule."

Nicklaus, the 24-year-old Golden Bear who last year was the youngest player ever to win the Masters looked at the steady downpour yesterday and admitted it didn't hurt chances to be the first player ever to repeat.

"This is just wonderful for me," he said.

Rain is expected to continue off and on through tomorrow, according to the Weather Bureau, although it is hoped the course will be fit for practice rounds today. It was closed before noon yesterday.

The tournament opens Thursday, and it seems highly unlikely there will be enough sunshine to put any roll back into the lush fairways.

Nicklaus was asked if he thought a wet course would turn the tournament into a Nicklaus-Palmer battle.

"I certainly hope so," Nicklaus said, "because that would mean that I would be right up there. Arnold is just about ready to start playing his best golf. He's hitting the ball as far as I've ever seen him hit it."

Palmer, the Masters winner in 1958, 1960 and 1962, agreed that he is driving in the Nicklaus range. "I'm happy about my driving, and I feel my irons are a little better," he said.

"I've been playing prettty well, and I feel better coming into this tournament than I have for three or four years."

Machen-Patterson Bout Is 'Assured'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The vision of climbing into a ring with former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is still little more than a vision as far as boxer Eddie Machen is concerned.

But promoters say such a bout is scheduled.

For six years Machen has sought a chance at Patterson while Floyd sat on top of the division. Machen says now he can't believe the chance has come.

IN SWEDEN

Machen's manager, Walter Minskoff, announced yesterday that promoters have arranged for the two fighters to square off July 5 or 12 someplace in Sweden for a title elimination match which might give the winner a crack at champion Cassius Clay.

"I still can't believe that after all these years Floyd is finally going to get in there with me," Machen said. "I'm keeping my fingers crossed."

But there's no need for crossing fingers, according to Al Bolan, who will join with Edwin Ahlquist of Sweden in promoting the 12-round fight.

3 CITIES BIDDING

Bolan announced from his New York office that the only points still to be determined are the exact date and location of the fight.

Bolan said three cities are bidding for the match. They are Stockholm, Gotborg and a third he said he could not now identify.

"This has got to be the most important fight of my life, and I'll go all out to whip Patterson," Machen said.

"I was never one to brag or call the round of a fight, but I know this is my time and my chance to eventually get a shot at the championship," he added.

Although Clay hasn't committed himself to accepting the winner's challenge, the Machen camp thinks the elimination fight should lead to a crack at the crown.

Minskoff says Machen will step into the ring guaranteed $50,000 and 30 per cent of the ancillary rights of home television, films and radio broadcasts.

NO U.S. RADIO

The fight will be broadcast on radio in Great Britain, but not in the United States.

Minskoff said fight films will be flown to the United States and Canada and shown that same night on regular, rather than closed circuit, television.

Bolan would not disclose the exact size of Patterson's purse, but did say that it would be a little fatter than Machen's. The promoters said both fighters would receive the same percentage of revenues derived from sale of media broadcast rights.

S.A. Merchants Bomb Oakland '9'

The San Anselmo Merchants bombed Melody Rambler of Oakland Sunday, 9-2, in semi-pro baseball action.

Steve Miller, San Anselmo righthander, allowed only five hits and struck out nine while going all the way on the mound for the Merchants.

Larry Kline, Merchant shortstop, was the batting star of the game, hitting two singles and a double which were good for four runs driven in. He also scored three runs himself and made some fielding gems from the short patch.

Don Novak had two doubles and two RBI's for San Anselmo.

Young Bill Hardwick Rattles Pins In ABC

OAKLAND (UPI)—The American Bowling Congress tournament standings had a brand new look today, thanks to the sensational performance of young Bill Hardwick and his mates from the Bel Mateo Bowl of San Mateo.

The 22-year-old Hardwick, last year's Professional Bowlers Assn. champion and top money winner, moved to the top of three classic division categories and took over third in the other one yesterday.

He and his Bel Mateo Bowl mates knocked down 3,103 pins last night for a two-night total of 6,227 and a hefty 206-pin lead over the defending champion California Bombers of Los Angeles, who are in second place this time around.

The Bel Mateo total was five pins short of the Bombers' 1963 score and 21 pins under the classic team record of 6,248 set by Don Carter Bowling Gloves in 1962.

Hardwick had a 636 series last night, while Earl Johnson pitched in with a 643. The team started with 1,064 and 1,075 games and then slid to a 964.

Earlier yesterday, Hardwick fired a 730 singles series with games of 216, 258 and 256 and totaled 2,088 all events—an average of 232 pins per game. That put him on top of both divisions.

Then he joined with Johnson to fire a 1,282 in classic doubles and earn third place.

Hardwick's 12-game total here was 2,724. This is an average of 227 pins per game and is only four total pins short of the ABC record set by Jack Winters of Philadelphia in 1962.

Hardwick's spree overshadowed some fine kegling by Sam Baca of Oakland, who took over second place in the classic singles with a 710, which included a 275 game.

Don Johnson, a San Mateo teammate of Hardwick's, shot a 688 for fourth place behind former leader Jack Rosencrance of Endicott, N.Y.

Urban Best and Harry Richardson, classic bowlers from Bakersfield, rolled a 1,260 in doubles to take fourth place in that division.

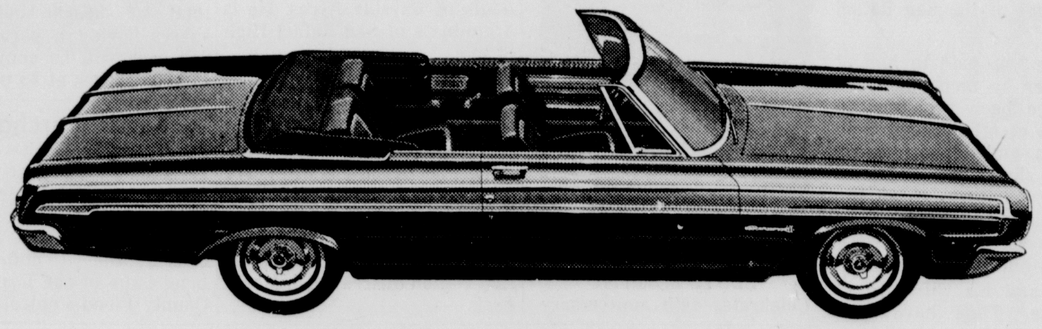
THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64



We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500.

You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Sill-to-sill carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point. With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our walloping, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.

How Times Have Changed In The Pro Golf World

By OSCAR FRALEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—There were three of them out of the past and they could laugh without envy at the manner in which money has changed tournament golf from a hamburger tour to a caviar circuit.

They've all three hit it big—Ben Hogan, Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Demaret. And they sat in the big old clubhouse at Augusta National Golf Club comparing the impecunious past with the lucrative present.

"Now," chuckled Demaret, three-time winner of the coveted Masters championship which goes up for grabs starting Thursday, "everybody is buying his own airplane. I've even got one myself. Arnold Palmer flies his own and Jack Nicklaus is buying one. Man, how times have chahged."

They have, indeed.

"When I won the British Open, back about a hundred years ago," the knickered Sarazen grinned, "I got $250. You can play 72 holes with a putter these days and win more than that."

LOT OF PROMISE

"I didn't even bother to play in the Masters in 1936," said Sarazen. "A friend of mine told me to skip it. We took off in his plane for some place and, on the way, flew over the Masters to take a look from the air. He had a young congressman with him in the plane and told me in an aside that the young fellow had a lot of promise. The fellow's name was Lyndon B. Johnson."

Demaret was just hitting the big-time in those days, an era in which the pros played a whole year for $80,000. By comparison, this year they'll play for $2,500,000 and one tournament alone pays off $200,000.

"Every man has his own airplane," Demaret quipped, "and we used to ride six in a car and promise ourselves that next year it would maybe be a new automobile.

ORANGE BREAKFAST

"We ran so short at times," Demaret added, "that on the Florida circuit we took turns every day hitting a ball out of bounds. While looking for the ball in the groves we'd fill our golf bags with oranges. They make a better breakfast than nothing. And there were several times we dropped our bags out of a back window, walked out through the lobby nonchalantly, picked up our gear in the alley and ran for the next tournament."

Hogan, twice winner of the Masters and probably the wealthiest of the trio, grinned throughout the byplay and remembered when Ky Lafoon, one of the earliest tee tourists, would drive down the road grinding down the sole of his clubs by dragging them on the concrete road. "You did everything to save a buck or improvise," said Hogan.

Young Fullmer In Sacramento Bout

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Don Fullmer, brother of former middleweight titlist Gene Fullmer, will meet Fred Roots in a 10-round middleweight bout here April 14, according to promoter John Squaglia.

The younger Fullmer has been boxing professionally since 1957. Last year he won three bouts and lost the same number.

Roots, a local favorite, won six out of seven last year, taking all six by knockouts.

Baseball Program In San Rafael Saturday

Second annual Youth Baseball Clinic for managers and coaches will be held Saturday at Albert Field in San Rafael.

The clinic is organized to promote better understanding of baseball and to teach the managers and coaches about the prevention and care of injuries common to the sport, according to the sponsors — the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office, the Marin County Elementary School Administrators Assn. and the City Recreation Departments. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

On the program are a film on practice organization, teaching and analysis of elements of fielding, base running and sliding, and several talks on strategy and hitting fundamentals. Most of the instruction will be done by scouts from teams in the major leagues, including "Dutch" Anderson, scout for the San Francisco Giants.

More information on the clinic is available from either Joe Rodota, recreation director for the City of San Rafael; Bob Lollick, Marin County Little League representative; Frank Quinn, recreation director for the City of San Anselmo; Bob McCurdy, Oliver Hartzell School, San Rafael, or Dr. Charles Nagel of the County Superintendent of Schools staff.

Contest To Select Queen Of Yachting

Peggy deRyk, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred deRyk of 111 Belle Avenue, San Rafael, has been chosen to represent the North Bay Yacht Club of San Rafael in a "queen" contest conducted by the Pacific Inter-Club Yachting Assn.

The winner of the contest will reign as queen of festivities surrounding the opening day of the Bay Area yachting season on April 26.

Bowling Green Ace Is Nation's Top Cage Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard (Butch) Komives, Bowling Green's hot-handed backcourt ace, is the major college basketball scoring champion.

The 6-foot-1 senior fired at a 36.7 points-per-game clip-third highest average in history—and headed a record list of seven collegians with averages of better than 30 points per game, according to final statistics released today by the NCAA.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, last year's No. 1 scorer, finished second this season with a 33.2 mark.

Manny Newsome, Western Michigan, 32.7; Bill Bradley, Princeton, 32.3; Rick Barry, Miami, Fla., 32.2; Gary Bradds, Ohio State, 30.6, and Steve Thomas, Xavier, Ohio, 30.0, completed the 30-point club.

Thurman, Smith Roll Top Keg Scores

Floyd Thurman was the headline bowler for the past week at Nave Lanes with a 640 series headed by a 266 game in the Hawaiian League.

His 266 line wasn't the top individual effort, however, at Cal Smith cracked the pins for a 279 game en route to a 613 set in the Novato Majors League.

Karl Butler of the Novato Merchants League had a 634 series that included games of 232 and 231. Andy Anderson, rolling in the Banker's League, had a 265 game and 608 series, and Lyman Booth hit a 253 game in the 840 Scratch League.

Maddie McDaniels paced the women's attack with a 570 series that was headed by a 221 game in the Thursday Late Mixed League. Betty Halloran, a 137 average bowler, had a 225 game series in the Wednesday Late Mixed. Marge McDaniels had a 229-561 in the Thursday Late Mixed.

Eve Linn of the B.B.B.'s League and Yvonne Foster of the HAFB Officers Wives Club league tied for high game honors with 235's.

COUNCIL REJECTS TWO SUBDIVISIONS

Rafael Woods, Condominium Turned Down
San Rafael Seeking Policy On Sloping Lots

Hillside and flat land subdivision fared equally badly last night with the San Rafael City Council.

Proving tougher than its planning commission, the council turned down by unanimous vote the commission-approved plan for Rafael Woods subdivision of 27 lots on a circular hillside extension of C Street.

It also rejected—again unanimously—a seven-duplex condominium "planned community" for Porto Bello West, off San Pedro Road in East San Rafael, because developer L. E. Weisenburg balked at one of the planning commission's restrictions on it.

The Rafael Woods proposal, by Morden Dunn, got by the planning commission with only one dissent after it had been redesigned to permit no access downhill from Meyer Road. But the council agreed with City Engineer Dominic J. Selmi, former City Planner David DuBiel, and the Bret Harte Heights Assn. that the steep terrain meant there was actually no access from the C Street extension for about half the lots.

J. W. Liljeberg, president, led the Bret Harte Heights Assn. members in protest. He was joined by several other speakers from among a delegation that nearly filled the council chamber.

In rejecting the subdivision, the council again directed the planning commission — as it had three months ago—to start proceedings to rezone the area for 20,000-square foot lots. Zoning now allows 10,000-square foot lots.

It also, on suggestion of Councilman Louis H. Baar, asked Acting Planner Daniel P. Coleman and City Atty. David Menary Jr. to come up with a proposal on how to prevent further hillside subdivisions until a slope policy can be enacted into ordinance.

Weisenburg objected to the planning commission's requirement that there be no access to Porto Bello West from the adjoining dead end of Aqua Vista Way. He attempted to introduce an alternate map which would allow access only from Aqua Vista, rather than also through the original Porto Bello condominium. He was told that must be done at the planning commission level.

The council went farther than it was requested in voting a two-hour parking limit on Lindaro Street from Third Street to Woodland Avenue. The limit had been requested by 10 owners of property on Lindaro below Second Street. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen pointed out that the city traffic committee several months ago recommended the restriction for the larger portion of the street.

Bid opening for the Second Street storm sewer project produced nine bids, three of which were below the city engineer's estimate of $12,878. Low bidder was Gobbi Excavation Co. of Petaluma at $9,970.60. The other eight bids ranged to a high of $23,610.50 by J and K Construction Co. of San Rafael.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Referred to the city clerk and city attorney a request by the San Rafael Credit Union to permit payroll deductions for credit union deposits and payments. The request was presented by Andrew Thomas, chief building inspector and credit union vice president.

2. Agreed to offer city cooperation in seeking federal disaster loans for property owners along the canal who suffered losses in the March 28 tidal wave. Robert W. F. Severin, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce president, suggested the move.

3. Held over until April 20 decision on Earl L. Bailey's request for a taxicab license. Bailey, who operates the Terra Linda Cab, said about half his pickups are in the part of Terra Linda within the city. Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa recommended denying the license.

4. Approved an agreement with the county for collection of dog license fees under the new uniform animal control ordinance.

5. Approved an agreement between the city and Edward Wachsman to place deed restrictions for 16 parking spaces on property at 828 Mission Avenue, to serve an office building Wachsman is constructing a block away.

6. Voted to set up an assessment district under the 1911 Act for improvement of Fourth Street from Union to Mary Street, unless James E. Lundgren agrees to pay his share of the improvement without an assessment district. Majority of the property is owned by the city and Wilkins Post of the American Legion. Lundgren is the only owner objecting to the improvement.

7. Directed City Manager Andersen to inform the Terra Linda Community Services District than money for the city's half of a traffic signal at Freitas Parkway and Las Gallinas Avenue will be in the budget for the next fiscal year. The county has agreed to pay the other half of the cost, said a letter from Richard Drosendahl of the community services district board.

8. Instructed Public Works Director Norris Rawles to attend today's meeting of the county board of supervisors at 2:30 p.m., when improvement of San Pedro Road was to be discussed.

9. On urging of Councilman Harry A. Barbier, asked the city manager to provide a computation of how much per mile police cars of various ages are costing to operate Barbier said the older cars are proving too expensive. City Manager Andersen blamed this on careless driving by police.

10. Directed City Attorney Menary to file a condemnation suit for a parcel of property needed for extension of Bellam Boulevard.

11. Hired Harold Hall as maintenance man at $410 per month, and Lester Petterson as yard clerk at $328 per month.

Double-Deck Parking Delay May Be Saving

Double-decking of two downtown San Rafael municipal parking lots ran into another slight delay last night, but it may prove a money-saving one.

As the city council was preparing to call for bids on double-decking the lots at Third and Lootens Place and at Fifth Avenue and C Street, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he had been approached by an engineer who claimed he could design the lots to be built at least $22,000 cheaper and afford 24 more parking spaces.

Andersen's disclosure came after Roy Hoffman, engineer for the project, had estimated construction cost at $312,000, with expenses of a bond issue running the total to $379,900.

As the bond issue will yield only $250,000 — maximum under the present bonding capacity of the downtown parking district—this would leave $127,900 to be made up from city moneys.

City Clerk W. L. Morgan said the city could do it. He estimated that as of June 30, there will be about $150,000 in unencumbered funds in the parking district and the parking meter fund.

The council decided the saving from another engineering approach was sufficient to justify waiting two more weeks to call for bids. Andersen was asked to get the un-named engineer together with Hoffman to discuss the proposed change.

PARADE PLAN SHOWS POLITICS

Political sidelight at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting:

As City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen was describing the Marin Visitors Bureau's plan for a May in Marin parade on Fourth Street on May 2, Councilman Fred E. Jensen broke in: "Who rides in the lead car—Leydecker or McInnis?"

Back from Andersen: "They've got an open convertible for the city council and a panel truck for the supervisors."

Sentence Given For Burglary Try

Raul Garcia Gonzales, 31, hotel resident in San Rafael, was sentenced to nine months in Marin County jail yesterday on his plea of guilty to attempted burglary last Nov. 24 of Sabella's Restaurant, 555 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

Sentencing was by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

Sewer Backup Brings City $1,659 In Bills

The City of San Rafael was handed a couple of smelly bills last night, totaling $1,659.08.

Two neighbors on Fifth Avenue filed the claims, both alleging damage to their homes from sewage that backed up in a city line.

Public Works Director Norris Rawles promptly blamed Pacific Gas and Electric Co. He said a PG&E crew drove a grounding stake directly through the sewer line, clogging it.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Orlandi of 2130 Fifth Avenue submitted a long list of damages to home and furnishings from backup of the sewage on March 4. Their bill totaled $1,458.84.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Spencer of 2138 Fifth Avenue reported their home was damaged twice from the same cause—on Jan. 17 and March 4. The stake in the sewer line was not found until March 4, they wrote. Their bill, however, was much more modest: $200.24.

The city council referred the Orlandi bill to the city's insurance carrier. The Spencer bill, being for less than the $250 deductible under the insurance policy, was referred to City Atty. David Menary Jr. and Rawles to "work out with the PG&E."

Council Backs Festival, May In Marin Fete

May in Marin and the San Rafael Autumn Festival both got the blessing of the San Rafael City Council last night.

Robert W. F. Severin, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce president, appeared to ask the council to block traffic off Fourth Street between A and Court streets from 5 p.m. next Sept. 18 through the following day, so Autumn Festival events can be staged in the street.

The council went along with that.

Then City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen advised that the Marin Visitors Bureau wanted parking prohibited on Fourth Street during a May in Marin parade on May 2.

The council went along with that, too, although Councilman Louis H. Baar commented, "It'll sure foul things up downtown."

Marin Nature Group To View Slides

A program of slides entitled "Wandering on the Byways of Europe" will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gearhart to the Marin Nature Group at 8 p.m. Friday in Room 40 of the College of Marin chemistry building.

Mrs. Rosamond Day will lead a field trip sponsored by the nature group to Steep Ravine Beach via Steep Ravine Trail starting at 10 a.m. Sunday. Hikers are to meet at the circle at College of Marin and a non-hikers' drive to the beach will be made by those assembling at the locked gate on Highway 1 about one mile south of Stinson Beach Highway, according to Floyd McKune, corresponding secretary.

Money Put In Fund For City Hall

The $281.000 paid by California Newspapers Inc. for San Rafael's city hall property was put into a fund for a new city hall last night.

The city council transferred the money from the general fund to the city hall fund at suggestion of City Clerk W. L. Morgan.

Although the property at Fifth Avenue and A Street has been sold, the city will continue to occupy the present hall until the new one is completed.

To spur that along, the council formally notified San Rafael Architects Associated that a federally assisted disaster shelter will not be included in the new hall. It was turned down on recommendation of the architects.

$116 Fine For Drunken Driving

Lester Leroy Huffine, 31, San Francisco, was found guilty of drunken driving by Marin Municipal Judge Leonard A. Thomas yesterday and fined $166.

He was arrested by Marin County sheriff's officers yesterday.

Novato Hearing Set On Park At Cemetery

The Novato City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 o'clock tonight in the community house on whether the city should take over the old Novato Cemetery for a pioneer memorial park.

The council will also consider what to do about the ditch along Olive Avenue at the school, hear a report by Police Chief Robert di Grazzia on sale of cigarettes to minors, and vote on an animal control ordinance the same as that of Marin County.

ALL ASHORE FOR SUMMER

New recipe for fashion-wise epicures: Take two parts Newport Stripe seersucker, mix well with white sharkskin, frost lightly with accessories and viola, two ensembles to beat the summer heat. Chestnut Hill does it in two cool coordinated groups combining seersucker and sharkskin. For example, there's a seersucker shift, blazer and pants; white sharkskin in sleeveless shell and box pleated skirt.

Marin Girl Chosen For Los Angeles Debut

The Debutante Committee of the Los Angeles Patrons of the Fine Arts this week announced that Robin Collins, daughter of the Bradford Collins of Fairfax, is to be presented at the annual spring Debutante Cotillion.

The southern California ball will be an event of May 1, at the Upper Bel Air Bay Club in Pacific Palisades.

Miss Collins, currently a senior at Westlake School for Girls in Holmby Hills, formerly attended Dominican Convent in San Rafael. She appeared for the past 12 years in Marin's annual Ballet Aquacade.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins will go south for the debut, staying for Westlake School's traditional May Fete on May 3, in which their daughter has the leading role. Among their guests at the debut will be the debutante's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Foster Sims of Palmer, Alaska, and her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Collins of Salem, Ore. and Palm Springs.

Curr-Reeser Rite Performed In Reno

Jo-Anne Reeser and Richard Curr, both of Mill Valley, were married Saturday in a 1 o'clock candlelight ceremony at the Park Chapel in Reno.

The young couple was accompanied by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Reeser of Mill Valley, and Mr. Reeser gave his daughter in marriage in the double ring ceremony.

Jo-Anne wore a white wool suit and white accessories. After a wedding dinner at a restaurant in Sparks, Nev., the newly married pair returned to Mill Valley, where they have taken an apartment.

Jo-Anne was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is employed as a secretary to the manager of the Home Insurance Co. in San Francisco. Her brother is Donald Reeser of Mill Valley.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Upton of Mill Valley, attended Tamalpais High School and is employed at McPhail's in San Rafael. He is the brother of Mrs. Ted Homen of Mill Valley, William Curr of Woodacre and Thomas Curr of Mill Valley.

San Rafael Council P-TA Honors Mrs. Bryce Anderson

Mrs. Bryce Anderson was installed president of the San Rafael Council Parent-Teacher Assn., at a recent luncheon in the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael. The new president was also awarded an honorary life membership.

Other new officers include Mrs. Frank Parker, first vice president; Supt. Bert Corona, second vice president; Mrs. Roy Enos, treasurer; Mrs. James Mauroni, secretary; Mrs. H. B. Newman, historian and Mrs. Louis Avedano, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Malcolm Finley, past president of the Fourteenth District of the California Congress Parent and Teachers, was the installing officer.

Honored guests at the event were past recipients of honorary life memberships. They included the Mesdames George Alpers, Dwight Bruner, Finley, Sidney Diehl, William Campbell, Glen Ensign and A. F. Gregori.

Outdoor Art Club To Elect Officers

Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club will elect officers Thursday at a home day buffet luncheon to be held at 12:30 p.m.

For the program, Jack Younger will speak on "Insurance and You."

A resident of Mill Valley, Younger received his bachelor of science degree in journalism from Ohio State University in 1941. He served in the Army from 1941 to 1945, during which time he made approximately 50 jumps as a parachute officer. After the war he was a news reporter and an insurance salesman until he established his own insurance agency.

His talk will be directed to aspects of insurance which affect the individual. Areas to be covered are the high costs and low returns of hospital insurance, the teen-age driving son, the homeowner's policy, values of fire insurance, the prudent amount of insurance to carry and the different types of insurance companies in the field today.

Co-chairmen of the tea, Mesdames Albert R. Carter and Sealy A. Bennetts, will be assisted by Mesdames Samual G. Bagshaw, Thomas E. Bennett, Henry M. Heilbron, Harold J. Muller, Raymond G. L'Esperance and Gilbert P. Taylor.

Decorations chairmen are Mesdames Frank J. Connelly and Frank A. Schroeder.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

New Dance Fad Takes Over At Peacock Gap Country Club

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

First social event of its kind was the Discotheque given Saturday night by the Home Owners Association of Peacock Gap at the clubhouse. The dance fad, which started in Paris, spread rapidly to Europe, to Africa and the United States. A disc jockey spins the music records at a rapid speed to intensify the mood of the dancers. The Jack Oldsteins were in charge of Saturday night's party.

Among others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Pinkus, the second couple to move to Peacock Gap, Mr. and Mrs. John Werner, who have just returned from the Pacific Northwest, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooley, who recently moved to Peacock Gap from Texas, Don Schweitzer, president of the association, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hall, who enjoyed a holiday in Phoenix, Ariz, and the Sam Wrights, who moved from the Peninsula to Peacock Gap. He is in charge of Peacock Gap sales.

MRS. CARL COOMBS of Tiburon, president of the Berkeley Branch of the National League of American Penwomen, is flying to Washington, D.C. Friday as a delegate from the Berkeley Branch to the biennial convention of the national league. Mrs. Coombs, a professional artist, who works with both water colors and oils, won second place for a portrait in the Penwomen's Show at University of Pacific. The portrait was sent east for national judging. Mrs. Coombs will be joined by her husband in New York. They'll buy an automobile, see the World Fair in New York and travel through New York State. Mrs. Coombs has been commissioned to do a painting of the Sacred Grove. They'll go there and then travel through the Great Lakes states visiting friends, before returning home.

MRS. ROGER ANAWALT of Del Mar Estates, Tiburon and her two children, Robin and Eric, have returned home after visiting her cousin Mrs. Richard Nunes, at the Nunes beach home in Crescent Bay, Laguna Beach. The children had a wonderful time at Disneyland as Mr. Nunes is an executive there. Mr. Anawalt could not go with his family as he was away on a business trip.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN STOWERS of San Rafael have named their first child, a son, born April 1 at Marin General Hospital, John Robert. Mrs. Sophie Owen of Santa Rosa is the baby's maternal grandmother.

MR. AND MRS. MARK GERSTLE III of San Francisco are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Judith, to Karl Walter Haake April 3. Walter (the bridegroom uses his middle name) is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Herman Haake of San Francisco. He has a sister, Marianna. His maternal grandparents, are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paulsen of San Francisco.

Judy's paternal grandparents are Dr. Mark L. Gerstle Jr. of Sacramento and Mrs. Maitland-Heriot of Mexico City and Buenos Aires and her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer W. Bunker of San Mateo. Her paternal great grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lewis Gerstle, who had an extensive estate on San Rafael Avenue in San Rafael, as well as a home in San Francisco. After the death of the senior Gerstles, the San Rafael estate was given to the city of San Rafael by the family as a park and is known as Gerstle Park. Judy has a brother, Mark Philip Gerstle, a student at the University of Nevada in Reno.

Following a morning ceremony at the bride's parish church, Church of the Incarnation (Episcopal) in San Francisco with Rev. Hugh L. Weaver officiating, the newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon in Southern California and Nevada. They will live in San Jose until Walter completes his studies at San Jose State College.

Boys Too Lazy?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Are girls getting more sports and outdoor-minded than boys? Many girls complain that they can't find companionship with young men, unless they show interest only in easy-going pastimes. One 17-year-old girl writes:

"I go with a fellow who doesn't do anything but sit and read, ride in his car or lounge over a soda at the drug store. I like to ski, but he sighs when I suggest it. I go steady with him, but it's no fun to sit around yakking all the time or watch him read a book even when he comes to my house. I like the outdoors, but he suggests that I go ice skating with my girl friends.

"THEY SEEM to have the same trouble with their boy friends. One boy will drive us to a pond occasionally, and then sit in the car with the heater on while we skate.

"Is it asking too much of these fellows to do something we want to do once in a while even though they do not enjoy it?"

THEY SHOULD cooperate occasionally on an outdoor trip of some kind. But who can make them? A 19-year-old boy who does like the outdoors says: "Lots of fellows just like to sit and dream. Maybe they are just figuring out their futures or something. Suddenly you realize you are growing up, and you don't really know where you are going. It can be frightening. I know what I'm going to do so it doesn't scare me any more, but once it did." Maybe that is the answer.

MANY SURVEYS POINT out that boys are not as rugged as their fathers were at the same age. It may be because they have many more indoor diversions than their fathers enjoyed. Summer sports are popular but winter sports are more demanding, and some young men think them as work rather than play. They prefer fishing, swimming and sailing to hunting, skiing and skating.

Early American Furniture The Easiest To Live With

CHICAGO (UPI) — Colonial furiture always has been moderately popular for Cape Cod settings, reproductions of colonial inns, and tea rooms. But until a few years ago the style was regarded as charming, picturesque and almost too quaint for furnishing typical homes.

Victorian houses were huge and drafty and crammed with bulky furniture befitting their size. Later, apartments were also large and roomy, and formal versions of traditional furniture seemed proper. Then modern came into vogue.

BUT WITH THE advent of suburban ranch houses, Cape Cod cottages, split levels, country homes and small city apartments, Early American rushed back into favor because of its size, its graceful look, its usefulness and adaptability.

Now manufacturers make faithful reproductions of Early American furniture. They carefully scale to modern proportions any pieces too bulky or heavy to fit in.

Early American maple furniture is practical for the everyday wear and tear caused by children. Therefore, it has kept pace in popularity with young marrieds.

Contemporary manufacturers have been careful to build in one aspect lacking in colonial days: comfort. Use of foam rubber and the many polyfoams, plus the use of stain-resistant upholstery fabrics has substantially increased comfort and utility.

BECAUSE THIS Early American furniture is simple in design and honest in purpose, it is one of the easiest to live with of any furniture design.

Individual pieces blend well with modern or traditional furniture and accessories.

Manufacturers who have surveyed buying habits of the nation find that the demand for Early American is greatest in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Colorado, with heightened interest indicated also in Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska and the Da-

Danish Princess Youngest To Rule

By BORGE MORS

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark, 17, not old enough to have a driver's license and under Danish law not old enough to marry, will soon become the youngest queen in the world.

No date has been set but when the youngest daughter of King Frederik IX marries King Constantine, 23, of Greece this year, the newlyweds will become the youngest couple to share a European throne in this century.

IF THE WEDDING comes before Anne-Marie's 18th birthday on Aug. 30, she will have to ask for a "king's letter" giving Danish girls under 18 special permission to marry.

The couple announced their engagement in January, 1963 and planned to marry two years later but the death of King Paul of Greece on March 6 and Constantine's succession to the crown prompted them to move the wedding anead. It can come any time after the official period of mourning ends in Greece on June 6.

CONSTANTINE AND Anne-Marie, cousins five times removed, are both descended from the same great-great grandfather, King Christian IX of Denmark. And both have the same family name, Schleswig-Holstein - Sonderburg - Cluckburg.

They first met when Anne-Marie was a youngster of 11 and fell in love, so the story goes, at a dance. In the ornate salon of Copenhagen's Amalienborg Castle in 1961 Crown Prince Constantine, then 21, danced first with tall, blonde and serious Princess Margrethe, then the 21-year-old heiress to the throne. And next he danced with pretty, dark Benedikte, the second of the three royal princesses, then 17.

Last he danced with "the baby princess," Anne-Marie, who was only 15. They may have corresponded later, though no one seems sure, but shortly after their next meeting in Athens at the 1962 wedding of Princess Sophie of Greece and Don Juan Carlos of Spain, the word already going around was "it's only a matter of time."

Anne-Marie is brunette, so pretty that in Norway, where she used to ski, she was known as "the little heart breaker." Until her engagement to Constantine in 1963 she wore short skirts that showed off her legs to the knees. The hemline has come down a bit since.

ANNE-MARIE was born Aug. 30, 1946, in Amalienborg Castle. She was the most athletic member of the royal family (except the king) and tore around the royal palaces on her bicycle as a child and proved an able skier on winter holidays in the Norwegian Mountains.

Like many girls her age she collects phonograph records. A row of dolls and teddy bears occupy most of the sofa in the two-room apartment in the castle that she and Constantine will probably use on visits here. The room is that of a typical teen-ager.

Tabby The Greatest Target A Camera Enthusiast Finds

"Where do you get your beautiful models?" we asked a camera-toting friend.

"Right at home," she answered. "Our cat just had kittens."

Come to think of it, perhaps the greatest, also the most underpaid, of all beautiful models is Tabby—and her offspring. They're the inspiration for songs ("Kitten on the Keys") for nursery rhymes ("Owl and the Pussy Cat") and for advertisements.

TABBY IS also among the greatest targets a camera enthusiast can find.

Sorry, but that's the end of the guarantee. From here on, it's as much what you know about Tabby's pattern of living as it is what you know about camera technique that determines how great you become as a photographer of felines.

FOR ONE thing, kittens have habits all their own. They love to crawl into and out of things such as boxes, bags, empty waste baskets and the like. After a full meal, they're ready to play. After a reasonable amount of play, they're ready for a nap—and even the goblins can't disturb that nap-pattern.

But the photographer must not be caught napping. He must be ready for each of these picture opportunities by having camera handy, preloaded (for colorful pictures the obvious requisite is color film, either print type or transparency type), plus a small amount of know-how.

WHAT CAMERA? Doesn't matter much, really. Any workable camera will do for daylight shooting. A photographer will never be caught napping if he uses one of the new drop-in-load cameras that can be reloaded in an instant without danger of lightleaks, finger marks, scratches or dust. Fingers never touch the film; there is no spool to thread.

Most ultra-simple (non-adjustable) cameras in existence today are cameras with a fixed-focus lens requiring us to stay 5 feet or more away from our subject; adjustable cameras let us focus closer, say 3 feet. However, either of these can be converted—as quick as a cat's jump—into a close-up camera by merely slipping a portrait attachment over the camera lens.

A portrait attachments does just what it says: enables us to take portraits (for Tabby's we probably should say close-ups) that will enable making both of Tabby's lustrous eyes look as big as Buffalo nickels in the final photograph. Distance from camera lens to Tabby's eyes must be measured accurately, however — to the inch.

WANT A picture of Tabby so sharp you can count each of the whiskers on her nose? Then, for a light-colored kitty, use a dark background, and vice-versa. Place it several feet back, so the flash of an artificial light won't strike it. Use either peanut-sized flashlamps or a repeating electronic flash. If possible, hold the light high and slightly to one side to produce three-dimensionalism and a true-to-life quality in the final photo.

THIS BRINGS us to the vital aspect—Tabby, herself. She's quick, you know. Quick as a cat, the saying goes. So be ready, then patiently wait for her to make a motion, assume an expression, you want to capture. Have an eye glued to the camera viewfinder, finger tip on the shutter release (or light button). Artificial lighting will get the picture, never fear, if you're ready when Tabby is.

Can't coax Tabby into doing what you want her to do—when you want her to do it? Then trick her. A tiny piece of cellulose tape stuck to one paw will get action in a jiffy; or tape one of her favorite playthings to the floor; or hang a ball on a string, focus the camera on the ball, then wait for Tabby to take a swing at it.

WHEN IT comes to tricks, you need a bundle of them for cat photography. Learn to make noises. Bark. Gobble. Cluck. Tap your fingers. Crumple cellophane. Anything that will get her attention.

How could you take sharp action pictures without artificial flash? Use daylight, with an adjustable camera (borrow a friend's if you don't own one) that permits setting the shutter speed to, say, 1/250th or 1/500th of a second. Then, referring to the instructions that come with the film, set the lens opening accordingly. Doesn't matter how far or how near the lens is to the kitty; this doesn't affect the exposure (only the sharpness).

Walter Chandoha, one of America's greatest photographers of cats, was asked what advice he would give to a beginner.

"Don't stop after one shot," he answered. "Your best shot is rarely your first one."

THAT'S GOOD advice. Among the first to agree will be one of the greatest actors ever to appear before your camera. That's Tabby.

ROBERT GAJDA, Detroit, entitled this picture "Come Play With Me." It won second prize in the Scholastic Awards contest. One of America's leading photographers advises beginners not to stop after one shot.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Know why newborns yawn more often and more adorably than anybody? It's Mother Nature's way of providing the extra oxygen new lungs need in the early weeks. (It takes a bit of time before a beginner's lungs work at top efficiency.) So when your cherub looks just about his very cutest, remember that yawn means he's getting the benefits of a deep and satisfying breath of air.

•

Solid facts with nutritional overtones. Specially prepared cereals play an important role in your baby's diet because they supply important nutrients baby needs. Gerber Baby Cereals, for example, are enriched with a special form of iron to help build good red blood. B-vitamins are also added to increase the nutritive benefits.

•

Gerber Cereals are famous for their mild, pleasant flavors and smooth, nice-to-the-tongue texture. Five varieties . . . in 8-oz. packages or Gerber Cereal Sixes, a variety-package containing small-size boxes for small-size appetites.

•

Feeding footnote. It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you urge on your baby the better off he'll be. Tain't so. As an old friend once put it: "Forcing never made a baby a bigger or better eater . . . it just takes the enjoyment out of eating. Little ones are surprisingly smart when it comes to knowing their food needs and will eat enough if left alone to satisfy their hunger needs."

•

Eating enjoyment comes naturally with Gerber Strained Foods. Because they have naturally good flavors and come-hither colors. Once on a full food schedule, your baby can enjoy over 50 wholesome, toothsome varieties. Two brand new delectables: Strained Creamed Corn and Strained Chicken Soup . . . sunny tempters made extra-nourishing by the addition of whole milk solids. State's Curious Political History May Repeat Itself

It strikes us that, in a sense, history is repeating itself in California politics.

Let's look at how it once was, starting about 50 years ago.

It was a one-party state. That is, one party (Republicans) had such an overwhelming majority that a minority party person just never (for a quarter of a century or more) could get elected to statewide office.

Under the leadership of Governor Hiram Johnson, the direct party primary election replaced the old party conventions where the bosses picked the candidates.

Thus in the one-party state, the real election was at the primary, for whoever won the majority party nomination in the primary election was certain to be elected.

There were issues and contests over the issues. There were old-guarders and progressives. Sometimes one faction would win; sometimes another.

The administration changed frequently. In fact, no governor between Hiram Johnson and Earl Warren ever managed to win reelection. Each time the incumbent was defeated in the primary.

But the changes were within the majority primary. The minority party never got a look-in.

That is the way it once was.

There are indications that we may be headed for a return to that system.

As far as voter registration goes, California is a one-party state in that the majority party (Democratic) has an overwhelming plurality of registrants.

It looks as if Clair Engle may be a one-term U.S. Senator. It looks as if he may be defeated in the primary.

And it looks as if a minority party member would not have a ghost of a chance in the general election.

So the choice for U.S. Senator will in all likelihood be made in the majority party primary.

In other words, it is almost a foregone conclusion that the next U.S. Senator elected from California will be a Democrat. With three Democrats contesting for the nomination in the June primary—Clair Engle, Alan Cranston and Pierre Salinger—the real decision will be made for all of us on the Democratic ballot in June.

If this all comes to pass, look for a dog-eat-dog contest for the Democratic election for governor two years hence.

Our guess is we will have a change in state administration in 1966. Governor Brown will be replaced by a different Democrat representing a different element of the now diverse majority party.

When this happens, California political history will begin to repeat itself, for sure.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

DOUBLE DOSE OF THIEVES

After her Paris apartment was burglarized recently, one woman decided to carry her jewels with her at all times.

But that precaution turned out to be far from safe. When she left with a friend for a country weekend, she wore several rings and a pearl necklace and carried a bag containing her other jewels, valued at $360,000. She also had $10,000 in currency with her.

Just before reaching their destination, however, five masked men seized the two women, bound and gagged them, and then made off with the jewels and money.

People who are blessed with an abundance of this world's goods don't always enjoy carefree lives. The worry and responsibilities of earthly possessions can be considerable. They may even be lost altogether.

Do more than gather material treasures you must eventually leave behind anyway. Show an even greater concern in "laying up" the spiritual treasures that endure for all eternity.

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither rust nor moth consumes, nor thieves break in and steal."
(Matthew 6:20)

Keep me ever mindful, O my Savior, of the big difference between the treasures of this world and those of the next.

School Funding Is On Rough Road As Senators Hit At 'High Priests'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Indications that educational financing under the present laws of the state is in for more than reasonably rough time in the state Senate continue to pile up.

Six more Senators joined the parade for extensive revisions in the system last week through a press release drawing attention to the asserted inadequacies of the present system.

Reforms have been urged by Sen. George Miller (D-Contra Costa) and Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of the Assembly (D-Los Angeles).

NOW SENS. Stanley Arnold, Stephen Teale, Virgil O'Sullivan, John Begovich, Alan Short and Eugene Nisbet, all Democrats, have come out in favor of revisions, and at the same time taken occasion to castigate what they termed "the high priests of the educational temples."

They referred, not by name, to "the highest priest of them all," meaning none other than Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, who recently was taken to task by Sen. Hugh M. Burns, president pro tem of the Senate.

It should be pointed out that all of the senators are Democrats, and that Dr. Rafferty is a Republican, and a possible contender for the governorship two years hence. Whether this has anything to do with educational financing remains to be seen.

WHATEVER the answer to this question, the six senators pose some pertinent inquiries in connection with the educational financing system.

They want to know why state-wide standardized test scores show no positive correlation between test results and the amount of money spent per child, and why the same scores show that, in general, smaller school districts scored below larger ones (one phase of the battle is over unification of districts).

Also, why have educators been silent over potential revenues from Long Beach tidelands, and why the voluntary "leave the reforming" to the educators produced one of the largest average class sizes in the country?

HOW CAN A 7-1 ratio of teaching personnel to administrators be justified, and, in view of that ratio, why do teachers put smaller classes at the top of the list and more supervisory personnel at the bottom in a survey on school needs and how they could do a better job of teaching?

They end by asking how the schools can justify a request for mass money which would produce merely "more of the same?" Now the disparity in expenditures for average daily attendance ranges from $250 to $1,200 per student in elementary districts.

Group Helps In Finding Housing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

First, I want to thank you for your editorial of March 26. The Marin Committee for Fair Play deserves all the support that you have given it. This is one of our oldest human rights groups in Marin County; it was organized officially more than four years ago, and at that time it had already been fighting communism with fair housing for two years. I know, because I have been in the group from the beginning. We waited those two years to organize in order to make sure that we had no Communists aboard. In this way we kept firm control, and when the Committee for Fair Play was finally organized, it had the tradition of loyalty, compassion and brotherhood which it has faithfully followed.

Your editorial gave the impression that the function of finding housing for those who have difficulty because of race or creed is something new in MCFFP's program. Actually, the committee has been doing this for years. What is new is a better job and the emphasis on advertising, seeking by means of newspaper ads those who are willing to rent or sell apartments or houses to any responsible person, regardless of his race or creed.

Moreover, your editorial fails to mention the two sponsoring organizations which are paying the cost of this extended advertising campaign. These are the Protestant Interracial Fellowship and its parent, the Marin County Council of Churches. Beginning with the larger ads in April, PIF is to be listed as a sponsor. The bills are sent directly to PIF, and the copy for the ads must be approved by the MCCC. In this way, both of these church groups are participating with the Marin Committee for Fair Play in a responsible program, fighting both racial discrimination and communism with the weapon of fair housing.

Writer Unhappy About Article

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was with grave disappointment to see you failed to publish my article, "Speaking Out on Christian Unity and the Ecumenical Council," as I had typed and sent it to you, in last night's paper (March 31).

It is my honest conviction you cut the article down not because of it being too long. Had you published the entire article, just as it was, it would have been no longer than the one just below mine, "Wants Creek for a Park, Not Parking."

Could the reason for your not publishing the article just as I typed it be your fear to do so, or your trying to suppress the free use of your press?

Redwood Teacher Is Paid Tribute

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am the spokesman for a club in Redwood High School known as the Teacher of the Month Society. Every month we pick a teacher we consider deserving special mention for his or her extraordinary teaching abilities. The teacher we selected this month was Nick Gennaro, a freshman English teacher.

Mr. Gennaro is a favorite among almost all of his students (it is virtually impossible for a teacher to receive a 100 per cent popularity rating, though Mr. Gennaro comes closer than most with a rating of about 92). As one of his duller students remarked, "English is usually one of my most boring subjects, but Mr. Gennaro makes it a regular, like they say, 'adventure into learning!' "

We would be very much in debt to you if you could find place for a few lines in tribute to this rare sort of teacher....

A TRIM YOUNG LADY entered a sporting goods emporium and ordered a baseball, a bat, a catcher's mask, and shin guards. "Do you plan to use all this equipment personally?" joshed the salesman. "Yes, I do," answered the unsmiling young lady. "My new boss told me that if I'd just play ball with him, we'd get along perfectly."

VERY EARLY IN THEIR fabulous career, the Four Marx brothers were booked for a vaudeville tour through the Middle West, and their father took a train from New York to Chicago to arrange the details of their itinerary. It was by far the longest train journey any Marx had undertaken to that date, and the entire family trooped over to the 125th Street station to see him off. There were speeches, cheers, and even a few tears as Papa Marx hopped aboard the train. Fifteen minutes later he hopped off again — at Grand Central Station. He had boarded an incoming train instead of an outgoing one.

A 13-YEAR-OLD mastermind was asked to make a list of practices important to dental hygiene, and came up with the following: 1. Brush your teeth after every meal. 2. See your dentist twice a year. 3. Stay away from drinking fountains where they push.

Signs Point To Lodge Victory In Oregon, Too—GOP Is Surprised

WASHINGTON — Republican political leaders are finding that what they least anticipated is coming upon them: they will soon have to decide what to do about Henry Cabot Lodge.

The GOP chieftains are finding that Republican voters are pushing Ambassador Lodge at them faster than they can turn their heads.

They laughed when the Draft - Lodge amateurs sat down to the task of putting the 1960 vice presidential nominee into the New Hampshire primary as a write-in candidate.

And then when he took it all, running way head of Goldwater and Rockefeller and getting twice as many votes as Nixon, the Republican professionals negligently dismissed the New Hampshire results as a "local phenomenon" which couldn't happen anywhere else.

BUT IT LOOKS like it is going to happen. The evidence in Oregon is that Lodge is picking up in advance of the first primary on the Pacific Coast exactly where he left off in the first primary on the Atlantic, way ahead of all others.

What explains this upsurge of voter sentiment for a candidate who is not working for the nomination and who has been out of the country in Vietnam for the past eight months? The best answer emerges from the large volume of political mail into Lodge headquarters. There are three reasons which recur most often from the pro-Lodge letter-writers:

THEY RECALL favorably the way Lodge stood up to the Soviets in the televised proceedings at the United Nations during the eight years he was U. S. ambassador to the U. N.

They approve of his willingness to take a hot-spot appointment from President John F. Kennedy and President Lyndon B. Johnson to serve the United States at the focal point of the struggle with the Chinese and North Vietnamese Communists. They see this as putting war-front service to the nation ahead of politics.

Finally — and this often comes from Democrats who say they voted for President Kennedy but would like to vote for Lodge—many letters stress the similarity in the Kennedy-Lodge backgrounds: same state, same schools, same political experience (House and Senate), both men of independent means and independent judgment.

WHATEVER the reasons, it is now becoming increasingly evident that Lodge's decisive showing in New Hampshire was not a local phenomenon honoring a neighbor from Massachusetts, but rather was the first manifestation of a national trend.

The May 15 primary in Oregon is life-or-death for Lodge. He must win there or it will be all over for his supporters. If he does win, which now seems probable, then the Republican leaders, who have been cool, almost disdainful of Lodge, will be right up against the question they never expected to confront: whether to fight voter support for Lodge or to try to ignore it or to yield to it.

Some Lodge backers are now confident enough to talk about a running-mate. The ticket which most often comes into such conversations is: Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Britain, U.S. Backing Russ For World Bank

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Moves are under way to make Russia a member of the 15-billion-dollar International Monetary Fund and the 21-billion-dollar International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank).

Such membership would open the door wide for Premier Nikita Khrushchev's obtaining the big long-term foreign credits he urgently wants to push his 40-billion-dollar chemical and agricultural development program.

Britain, eager to expand its Iron Curtain trade, is spearheading the backstage drive to bring the Soviet into the IMF and World Bank.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home initiated the hush-hush overtures to Russia — with the approval of key-placed members of the Johnson administration.

FOREMOST among them are Dr. Walt Rostow, head of the State Department's policy planning council, and McGeorge Bundy, foreign affairs adviser to the president.

Home discussed the proposal during his visit with President Lyndon B. Johnson. There have been further exchanges through diplomatic channels.

The Kremlin ruler was portrayed as prepared to meet the monetary requirements of the two organizations, but raising objections to other stipulations — the submission of detailed information on gold reserves and balance-of-payments (foreign trade).

In addition to providing this secret information, the Soviet would have to put up more than 500 million dollars in gold and give notes for another half billion in its own currency to be admitted to the International Monetary Fund. Such membership is mandatory for admission to the World Bank.

TO JOIN the latter, the Soviet would have to pay in 10 per cent of its subscription — estimated at around 200 million dollars. Of this amount only 1 per cent would have to be in gold or dollars; the balance would be in rubles.

The heads of both organizations are credited as favoring Russian membership.

George Woods, president of the World Bank, and Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, president of the International Monetary Fund, are privately letting it be known they approve.

Schweitzer, who is on cordial terms with President Charles de Gaulle, has undertaken to win his endorsement. No serious difficulty is anticipated.

WASHINGTON hostesses are getting the word they must have caffein-free coffee on hand when they entertain the president.

He is very fond of the beverage, especially after a hearty meal. But it's barred on doctor's orders, so the president drinks a caffein-free variety. He has a favorite brand, and alert hostesses stack a supply for him.

The President and Mrs. Johnson dine out several or more times a week. They are more gregarious that way than any of their predecessors in years, particularly President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Old friends head the president's list of favorites, especially newsmen.

He likes dining informally with them, particularly reporters who cover Congress, where he spent most of his Washington career. He enjoys gossiping with them about what's transpiring backstage on Capitol Hill.

If As Many Went To Meetings As Claimed Crowds Would Be Vast

ONE OF THE most startling statistics revealed in the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce community attitudes survey was that one per cent of the people said they regularly attended meetings of the city council, planning commission, school board, recreation commission and citizens' committees.

We would almost guess that a few people are stretching a point. If that were actually true, and one per cent actually did attend every meeting of these governing bodies, the crowds would be fantastic. Assuming that Novato's population is approaching 25,000 people, that would be 250 people attending these meetings.

Such a crowd would actually frighten the council, school board, or other governing board. They would wonder what they had done wrong to bring out so many people.

As part of our job, we attend a big share of such meetings. Many times the meetings are held with just the board and the press in attendance. We wonder where all those people are who said they attend regularly.

IT'S THAT TIME of year again when the islands in Highway 101 in Novato could be things of beauty. The grass is green and all it would take would be some mowing to make them attractive. The State Division of Highways maintenance office in Petaluma seems to want to forget the Novato islands.

Those in Santa Rosa receive watering and mowing regularly, but not those in Novato.

YOUTH IS THAT time of life when one does not worry and cannot possibly conceive of anyone else worrying. This was really brought out in the recent Alaskan disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Carter of 1422 Cambridge, Novato, have a son, John, 20, who is stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage. They have a ham radio set, K6RKG. The weekend after the Alaskan earthquake, they tried to contact their son.

Mrs. Carter, who is the manager of the classified advertising department of the Independent-Journal in Novato, came to work the following Monday morning with her eyes swollen from loss of sleep. They had stayed up long hours trying to contact their son.

Finally, last Tuesday, they received their first message from him. It read: "I am fine; don't worry. Send $25."

Then on Wednesday they received further word from him! "All safe. Do not be concerned about disaster reports."

Ah youth! Let the world shake and roll. Let the tidal waves sweep across the Pacific, bringing death and destruction, but don't worry!

Here Are The Traits By Which Henpecked Husbands Are Known

NEW YORK (AP) — "Am I henpecked?"

A young fellow new to the double harness routine asked me these questions recently.

They rather took me aback —they seemed so old-fashioned. It was almost as if someone had suddenly inquired seriously "Do you favor a protective tariff on high-button shoes?"

American wives, by and large, tend to feel rather complacently that they allow their husbands a pretty long leash. European men and women, on the other hand, are convinced that all American husbands are abject slaves of their wives.

The truth probably lies pretty well in between, although no one can question the rise of feminine authority in this country. This is shown by the widespread decline in wife-beating, now a vanished art.

In most households today a man would even rather try to whip his teen-age kids than risk a right to his queen bee's chin.

But there are positive ways to tell how henpecked a husband is. Here's a guide. He is more of a mouse than a man if—

HE NEVER cashes his own paycheck.

Four or more days out of the week he has to ask her for lunch money before leaving for work.

When he is explaining at a cocktail party the difference between nuclear fission and fusion she interrupts and says, "That's not it at all—you've got it backward."

She keeps the car keys in her purse, but allows him to have a photo of her in his wallet.

THE CLERK at the supermarket hands him the sack of groceries to carry — but looks to her to pay the bill.

When Mama tells the kids they can't do something, they never think to ask Papa to overrule her verdict.

It is supposed to be his bathroom, but there are always her nylon stockings hung up to dry.

The friends he used to have never call anymore; her old friends are now the family chums.

His mother-in-law visits at the house regularly; her mother-in-law is lucky to get a nickel card from them at Christmas.

IF HIS WATCH says it is 8 o'clock, and it is 8:05 by her watch, he sets his watch up five minutes.

When they are going out, she no longer has to ask him to zip up the back of her dress. He's there, ready and waiting.

Everybody says what a happy well-adjusted couple they are because they never seem to raise a voice to each other, let alone quarrel.

Actually what we have here, however, is a henpecked husband turned into one of life's losers by being married to a woman with winning ways.

Seniors Win Society Awards

Redwood High School seniors Gary Artoux of Greenbrae and Lynn Diamond of Ross have been named national winners in Quill and Scroll's, feature and editorial contests.

Artoux, editor of the Redwood Bark, and Miss Diamond, assistant editor, were given the international honorary society's national award gold key.

In addition, the winners are eligible to apply for one of the Edward J. Nell memorial scholarships in journalism. The $500 scholarships would be paid at the beginning of the freshman and sophomore years of study at any college or university having a journalism major.

Today is Tuesday, April 7, the 98th day of 1964 with 268 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mercury.

On this day in history:

In 1947, an audience at the Bell Telephone laboratories in New York witnessed the first successful long distance demonstration of television as Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover spoke from his desk in Washington.

In 1939, Italy invaded Albania.

In 1947, telephone workers in 39 states started a 23-day strike.

In 1953, Dag Hammarskjold was elected secretary general of the United Nations.

A thought for the day: Norwegian author Henrik Ibsen once said: "There can be no freedom or beauty about a home life that depends upon borrowing or debt."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Believe Your Eyes Instead Of Your Ears When Playing

In some card games spades count twice as much as any other suit. This is not true of bridge, but the player with spades has a big advantage over his opponents.

He can outbid them without having to bid for more tricks. That is, if he believes his eyes rather than his ears.

♠ A 10 6
♥ A 8 5
♦ 7 5
♣ A 9 8 5 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs.

You cannot afford to jump to three spades since you have only three-card support for spades. Bid your own suit and await developments.

For Sheinwold's 36-page booklet, "A Pocket Guide to Bridge," send 50¢ to Bridge Book, Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael.

Opening lead — ♥ 5

When this hand came our way in the recent national tournament, the opponents could have bid and made five spades.

1,100 POINTS

Instead, they let us bid and make five hearts. The difference was 1,100 points in our favor.

The credit should go to Ivan Erdos, Los Angeles bridge star, who held the North cards. He invented the rather pixyish bid of two spades, which talked East out of ever bidding the spades.

When you're looking at all of the cards in the cold light of day, you may find it hard to believe that any experienced player would allow Erdos to steal the spade suit from under his nose, but it did happen in a national tournament and East was a player of considerable experience.

DEEP FINESSE

A deep finesse made the contract for us when West opened a trump. I won in dummy and led the nine of diamonds, letting it ride to West's jack.

The shift to clubs came too late. I could take dummy's ace, get to my hand with a trump and lead the king of diamonds to ruff out West's ace.

Then back to my hand with another trump to discard clubs on the queen and ten of diamonds.

HONEST FACE

No matter how honest a face your opponent has, even if he looks like Ivan Erdos, don't believe that he is bidding on cards that you can see in your own hand.

Strong spades are always worth a mention.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

FRANKLY I'M BAFFLED

I'm cute as the proverbial 'bug's ear' in my Early American decor. My 2 bedrms., are large enough for twin or king-size beds. I'm so close to bus, shopping and schools you can walk to everything. My level sunny lot has beautiful shrubs and fruit trees, yet is very easily maintained. No stairs to climb either! So why haven't I found a happy buyer? Won't YOU look me over and make an offer? Just call

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR PAYMENT OF BOND No. 1, SERIES 1961-1 ISSUED FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF MADRONE WOODLANDS ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons Principal Coupons Numbers 1 and 2 and Interest Coupons Numbers 1-2-3-4 and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the Treasurer of the CITY OF LARKSPUR proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond.

NOW, THEREFORE, I GIVE NOTICE that I will on the 23rd day of APRIL, 1964, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock A.M. of said day, sell at public auction the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary at LARKSPUR CITY HALL unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon, together with the cost of the publication of this notice are paid; and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond, together with costs of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

LOT NUMBER 1 IN MADRONE WOODLANDS ASSESSMENT DISTRICT 1961-1.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this Notice, is:

Due on the Principal thereof, FOUR THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED NINETY-THREE AND 51/100 dollars ..... ($4,293.51)
Due on Account of Interest, SIX HUNDRED EIGHTY-FIVE AND 25/100 dollars ..... ($ 685.25)
Due on Account of Penalties, ONE HUNDRED FORTY-EIGHT AND 55/100 dollars ..... ($ 148.55)
Total amount due on said bond: FIVE THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-SEVEN AND 31/100 dollars ..... ($5,127.31)

In order to avoid this sale, paying of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of the amounts due, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due accruing up to date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and one dollar ($1.00) for the issuing of certificate of sale. The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Social Disease Continues To Grow, Creates Paradox For Medical Men

VAN DELLEN

Syphilis has created a paradox for the medical profession. We have excellent methods of detecting the condition, but the number of new cases continues to mount. The statistics in public health departments cannot be considered accurate because up to 90 per cent of these infections are not reported.

The family physician protects the patient. This is understandable because of the stigma of guilt, sex, and fear involved in acquiring the disease.

The chief objection to this form of secrecy is that the person who transmitted the infection remains at large and is free to pass it along to others. This may be one of the major reasons why syphillis is on the rise.

THE ANTIBIOTICS such as penicillin, erythromycine, and tetracycline have proved effective in early syphillis. The 19-year experience of Dr. F. J. G. Jefferiss of England is noteworthy.

He never has known an early case that did not respond to 2.4 million units of penicillin when given over an eight-day period.

Furthermore, there never has been a relapse. On the other hand, relapse may occur after a period of time, stressing the importance of follow-up blood tests.

IF SIGNS OR symptoms of the disease occur, this does not necessarily represent a true relapse; reinfection may be responsible. This situation is common among the sexually promiscuous.

Prior to the discovery that penicillin cured syphillis, the victim was treated at weekly intervals for three to five years. Relapses were rare during that time, presumably because the prolonged treatment with the arsenicals and bismuth prevented the manifestations of reinfection. This does not happen following the eight-day penicillin treatment. Consequently, more and more individuals are having "relapses" — actually reinfections.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SLIDING HERNIA

Mrs. L. W. writes: What is done for a sliding esophagus?

REPLY

Eat small meals, low in fat, for this type of hernia (diaphragmatic). Avoid food three hours before bedtime, sleep with the upper half of the body elevated, and reduce if obese. Your physician may wish to prescribe a sedative or an antispasmodic. The term "sliding" is used because the hernia slips up into the chest, especially when sleeping.

Today's Health Hint—A relative humidity of approximately 45 per cent keeps the home comfortable.

Bell Ringers For Mental Health Asked

Volunteers to help in the 1964 Bell Ringers March are being sought by the Marin Assn. for Mental Health, according to Mrs. J. P. Silvestri, chairman.

The annual fund campaign will start April 26, the beginning of National Mental Health Week, and will continue through the month of May. May 18, will be the day volunteers will ask for contributions to the drive in Marin County neighborhoods.

Volunteers for the Bell Ringers March may notify Mrs. Silvestri of Tiburon or area chairmen Mrs. India Johnson of San Rafael, Mrs. William Corrigan of San Anselmo, Mrs. Richard Treadwell of Riss, Mrs. Alvin S. Haag of Novato or Mrs. Thomas Miller of Tiburon.

Redwood Observes 'Bike Week'

About 15 students rode their bicycles to Redwood High School yesterday as part of "Bike Week" at the high school.

Last year student body president Peter Noyes started the event as a bet with his father that he could get 10 per cent of Redwood's student body to ride to school with him on bicycles instead of in cars.

The younger Noyes won his bet by the margin of seven students.

Last week the legislative assembly declared this week bicycle week at the high school and student body president John Burke hopes more publicity will bring out more bicycle riders by the end of the week.

Redwood Society Remains Local

A proposal for Redwood High School's honor society to become a chapter of the national honor society has been rejected by class officers.

This was done, according to junior Eleanor Watkins, president of the society, because the national organization accepts only juniors and seniors for membership and requires no hours of service to the school.

"We feel," she said, "that this defeats the purpose of the society, which is to recognize students of all classes who are doing a good job, not only scholastically, but in the personal contributions to the school."

6 Face Tough Contest For 2 Fairfax Council Positions

City Clerk, Treasurer Unopposed

PETER R. ARRIGONI JR.

DWAYNE E. DIBLEY

A tough contest is expected among six candidates for two Fairfax City Council positions to be filled in the April 14 municipal election.

The two seats are currently held by Mayor W. E. Radtke, who is not seeking re-election, and Stanley Wilsey, who was appointed to the council in October, 1960, and is running for election for the first time this month.

Candidates, besides Wilsey, are Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Dwayne E. Dibley, Frank J. Eggers, A. Nelson Gamas, and George A. Pagni. None has previously held city office.

Fairfax voters also will elect a city clerk and city treasurer. Unopposed for re-election are Mrs. Alice Leonesio, city clerk, and Mrs. Dorothy A. McGlothlin, treasurer.

The following are brief resumes of the candidates:

ARRIGONI, 32, is a stockbroker with J. Barth and Co. in San Francisco and is chairman of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission.

A native of San Francisco, he attended College of Marin for two years before serving with the Coast Guard during the Korean War. He graduated from the University of Arizona in 1957 with a bachelor of science degree in business and economics.

He is a member of the school site selection committee of the Fairfax School District, and a member of St. Rita's Church and Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West.

He and his wife, Patricia, live at 35 Oak Tree Lane with their sons, James Lloyd and Robert Jeffrey.

DIBLEY, 29, is office manager of McCullough Equipment Co. in Emeryville. A native of Minnesota, he received an associate of arts degree from College of Marin, where he served in student government.

During the Korean War, he served with the Air Force in Alaska as an airman second class.

Dibley has not been active in local fraternal or civic organizations.

He and his wife, the former Susan Giles, live at 611 Cascade Drive, with their sons Michael and Douglas.

EGGER, 25, has been a salesman for Kilpatrick's Bakery in the Fairfax area for more than four years. A native of San Francisco, he received an associate of arts degree from Santa Rosa Junior College and has attended University of San Francisco and the College of Marin.

The youngest of the six candidates, he has not been active in local politics but is a member of Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West.

He and his wife, Ronita, and their daughter, Lori, live at 13 Meadow Way.

GAMAS, 50, has been in the service station business in Fairfax for 22 years. He moved to the city in 1932 and makes his home with his wife, Louise, and their daughters, Carol Lee and Denise, at 2 Claus Circle. His son, Michael, is in the Navy.

He completed his education in Glasgow, Mont., where he was born and graduated from high school. He is a member of the Fairfax Merchants Assn. and St. Rita's Men's Club.

PAGNI, 33, is manager of the San Rafael office of Investor's Mortgage Service Co. of Los Angeles. A native of San Francisco, he holds a degree from Golden Gate Business College and has attended Golden Gate Law School.

A member of the Fairfax Planning Commission, he is president of the Fairfax Merchants Assn. and has been active in the Kiwanis Club of the Golden Gate in San Francisco and the Junior Chamber of Commerce speakers committee.

He has helped organize programs for problem youths in the San Francisco area through the American Friends Service Committee.

Pagni served with the Navy Air Reserve from 1950 to 1955 and was in the Army from 1955 to 1957. He and his wife, Nancy, live at 6 Ridge Road.

WILSEY, 54, the only candidate with previous council experience, was unanimously appointed to the council nearly four years ago to fill the unexpired term of Lawrence F. Walsh. He had been a member of the Fairfax Planning Commission three years prior to that appointment.

A special investigator for the California Department of Motor Vehicles, he is a member of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn., Bay Area Peace Officers Assn., California Peace Officers Assn. and is president of the Assn. of Motor Vehicle Investigators of California.

A native of Lincoln, Neb., he attended University of Nebraska. He served in the Coast Guard Auxiliary during World War II.

He and his wife, Dorothy, and their son, Gary, live at 110 Toyon Drive. Their son, Gary, is a co-pilot with Continental Airlines.

KPFA-FM Strike Forum Scheduled

Representatives of both sides in the current strike at listener-supported radio station KPFA-FM will discuss the strike issues at a public meeting at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. today.

Rev. Karel F. Botermans, minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Church in Kentfield, will be chairman of the meeting. There will be an open question session.

2 New Coaches To Augment Fete Staff

The production staff of the Marin Shakespearean Festival will be augmented this season by a voice coach and a body coach, according to John Brebner, executive director of the company.

Iris de Luce of Sausalito, professional dancer and choreographer, will teach proper stage movements to members of the casts of the three comedies to be presented this summer at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Drummond Wolff, teacher of choral music at the College of Marin, who holds a doctorate of music from the University of Toronto, Canada, and a bachelor's degree in music from the University of London, will be the voice coach for the company.

Other members of the production staff include John Pasqueletti and Charlotte Wax, costume designers, and Alonso Gonzales, set designer for the three plays, "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Taming of the Shrew."

"The Merry Wives of Windsor" will open the festival July 15, with Brebner directing.

Busterud Named To GOP Alliance

John A. Busterud of San Rafael, former San Francisco assemblyman, has been named to the advisory board of the Bay Area Republican Alliance.

James W. Halley, chairman of the alliance, announced the appointment of Busterud and seven others. Among them is Mrs. Alice Leopold of San Francisco, who teaches civics at Katharine Branson School in Ross.

Mrs. Leopold was assistant to the secretary of labor in the Eisenhower administration. Busterud, an attorney, is special counsel for the constitution revision commission set up by the legislature last year.

Report Card Plan

Report cards at Tamalpais High School will be withheld this quarter, as they were last quarter, until book bills are paid. This new system has been adopted, said student reporter Betty Basom, in the hope that students prone to let bills mount up will pay them off at regular intervals.

GOLDEN SALAD
Drain 2 cans of mandarin oranges very well and reserve the liquid. Combine 1 package (3 oz.) lemon flavored gelatin and ¾ cup hot water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Then stir in ⅓ cup lime juice, ¼ cup Sauterne or other dry white table wine, and ¾ cup of the liquid from the orange sections. Chill until the gelatin begins to thicken, then stir in the drained mandarin oranges. Pour into 1-quart mold and chill 'til firm. The flavor is tart enough to complement almost any meat course!

ROSY-GLOW PORK ROAST
Select a Jolly medium-sized pork roast. Place in roasting pan with fat side up and roast at 325° 40 minutes per pound. Thirty minutes before roast is done, remove pan drippings and baste generously with sauce and return to oven. Baste twice again at 10-minute intervals using additional sauce. Reserve enough sauce to serve with the carved roast. Rosy-Glow Sauce: Combine 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce with mushrooms, ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup dark corn syrup, ½ cup water and 2 tbsp. cornstarch. Cook over low heat, stirring until thickened. Add salt and pepper according to taste.
